

Six Candidates Plead For Women's Support In Race for Mayoralty

"They're Just Running Against Me—All Five of Them," Says Sims.
Jackson Praises League.

RUNNING ON RECORD, DECLARES BEAVERS

Woodward Makes First Speech of Campaign.
Nutting and White Give Their Stand on Issues.

The first joint meeting of the six mayoralty candidates was held Tuesday when they addressed the Atlanta League of Women Voters at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel.

Councilman Walter A. Sims charged that all the other five candidates were running against him.

"I even heard yesterday that one of the candidates offered to pay the entrance fee of another. They're just running against me—all five of 'em," he said.

The councilman spoke after Chief Beavers, who asserted that he stood for a "clean city," and told his listeners that there is no place in Atlanta or in the nation for invisible government.

Refers to Bunco Probe.

"About a year ago," stated Mr.
Sims, "as the police and detective departments were enforcing the law, there had grown up in this community houses for the fleecing of the unsophisticated. I thought it my duty to offer a resolution in council investigating this condition. The same crowd that was trying to obstruct the law then is trying to defeat me now."

"The henchmen of a lot of these graffiti came to my office and tried to intimidate me by telling me that if I didn't desist I would never hold public office in Atlanta again. I say that one of the greatest menaces in Atlanta is the failure to enforce the law."

Since six candidates were to speak, the chairman of the meeting limited
the remarks of each to five minutes.
Chief Beavers was the first speaker.

Chief Beavers Speaks.

"I am running on my past record," said the chief. "I have always stood for a clean city. I have no apology to make. I am not ashamed to face anybody in this city. The principles involved in this race mean more than all the candidates. The eyes of the world are on this city. There is no place in Atlanta or in the nation for any such thing as invisible government."

Pointing to some of his achievements as police chief, he said he was responsible for the installation of the traffic signal light system. "And you don't know what I could accomplish as mayor until you elect me," he concluded. "If you elect me, you won't be ashamed of it."

Compliments Women.

C. F. Jackson was introduced next.
He complimented the League of Women Voters as exerting a greater influence toward purifying the politics of Atlanta than any other group in the city.

Better sanitary conditions, improved streets and better schools, were the cardinal points of a platform which he outlined.

Referring to police conditions, he stated: "We cannot hope to attract the better class of citizenry to Atlanta if we do not back up law and enforcement."

J. R. Nutting Speaks.

Councilman J. R. Nutting opened his remarks with congratulations to Atlanta "for having this organization which has done such effective work in bringing the qualifications of candidates before the public."

Launching into his address he said:
"I have had to do with more constructive work since I've been in council than probably any other man in the city government, and the work I have done is only an earnest of what I would seek to do if I am elected mayor."

Mr. Nutting said he is chairman of the waterworks committee of council, and that department has actually started work on an improvement program under the bond issue. He called attention to the fact that he has served in practically every important capacity as a councilman and has been in close contact with the city's financial status, and is thoroughly familiar with her resources and her needs. He asked the women to reward his qualifications with their support.

Raps Intolerance.

Dr. John C. White rapped intolerance. He expressed the belief that any government founded on intolerance will fail. But greater than intolerance is the menace Atlanta faces from bootleggers and blind tigers, he said, and stated that he was the only candidate who had thus far had the courage to stand up and defy them.
The remainder of his address was as he announced it, included a program of general improvement of the city departments.

James G. Woodward was the concluding speaker. "Some of these candidates have given out flowery platitudes and have their pictures in the

PEACHTREE PLACE EXPLOSION CAUSES GREAT EXCITEMENT

Police Believe It Was Caused by 'Home-Made' Bomb Placed in Front of
J. F. Burke Home.

NEIGHBORS SEE AUTO DEPART AFTER CRASH

No Apparent Damage Caused—Captain Burke Unable to Give Any Reason for Occurrence.

A terrific explosion, believed to have been caused by a bomb placed in front of the residence of Captain J. F. Burke, 15 Peachtree Place, caused a furor of excitement among the residents in the neighborhood of Peachtree and Tenth streets shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

Detectives H. W. Armstrong and J. N. Austin rushed to the scene and with the aid of the entire neighborhood population found several inches of fuse which, it is believed, was attached to the missile. The powder had been burned from the fuse.

Residents on Peachtree Place on the Peachtree side rushed to their windows after the explosion which caused a terrific shock, sufficient to jar the furniture in the apartment of H. N. Morey, residing on the fifth floor of the Palmer apartments at Number 2 Peachtree Place, almost a block away.

Immediately following the explosion Edwin Chapman, residing at 30 Peachtree Place, noticed a touring car with all lights extinguished, speeding away from the scene of the explosion.
On reaching Columbia avenue, the car turned in and disappeared in a burst of speed.

Captain Burke could ascribe no reason for the bomb being aimed at his residence. No apparent damage was done though Captain Burke expressed the belief that several of the trees planted by him many years ago in the immediate vicinity of the explosion were killed by the shock.

Detective Austin expressed the belief that the explosion was the work of mischief-makers and that it was caused by a "home-made" bomb, probably composed of smokeless powder.

Discovery Worth $25,000 to City Made by Mathis

Chemist Says His Method Will Save Alum at the Waterworks.

BY HENSON TATUM.

Quite by accident, like a gold prospector finding a free nugget, a discovery recently was made at the Atlanta waterworks, which promises to revolutionize the process of water purification and save to the city a chemical fund of more than $25,000 annually.

It promises more than that. The residue may be used as a valuable product in the ceramic arts.

The discovery was made by Walter R. Mathis, chemist for twelve years at the waterworks plant, and is protected by patent applied for. It came to light one day last May when the chemist had occasion to make an analysis of the "sludge" taken from the bottom of the settling basins.

Alum Finished Out.

Sludge is the mud and other organic matter which coagulates from chemical treatment and drops to the bottom of the basins. The water, as it enters the basins, is treated with alum, about 300 tons a year being used.
This alum costs about $25,000 annually. Heretofore when it had done its work it was lost, being flushed out with the sludge when the basins were cleaned.

When the chemist completed his analysis, in which sulphuric acid played a leading part, he saw that he had reconstructed the alum used in the water, and the fine mud had sunk to the bottom of the solution and bleached white.

Hasty experiments followed and Mr. Mathis boarded a train for Washington to apply for a patent.
He asserts that he can reclaim virtually every pound of the alum from the sludge, use it again, reclaim it and go on indefinitely, adding that its strength would not diminish, by repeated injection into the water.

Gives Demonstration.

To a Constitution reporter Mr.
Mathis demonstrated his discovery
Tuesday. He took a sample of the

DRAWN-OUT FIGHT OVER TARIFF BILL SEEN AT CAPITOL

Prolonged Wrangle Over Its Provisions Slated to Take Place in Conference Room.

SENATE AND HOUSE ARE AT VARIANCE

Republican Leaders of Two Branches Have Strong Ideas on Valuation Clause.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, August 22.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—Prospects for a long and drawn-out fight between republican leaders of the house and senate loomed up today when the house referred the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill to conference.

Representative Fordney, joint author of the bill, declared on the floor that he would insist upon the house rates, which were changed against the deal by the senate.

"The tariff bill as it is returned to the house by the senate contains some very important changes," said Mr.
Fordney. "Perhaps the most important of all is the change of the basis for levying ad valorem duties from the American valuation to the foreign valuation. That is in my judgment the most important change in the bill."

The senate bill also provides that both in the matter of specific duties and in the matter of ad valorem duties the senate rates are greatly increased over the house rates, and in some instances, one in particular that I have in mind, they have increased the rate from 100 to 600 per cent above the house rate. I think those matters are of very great importance, and may require considerable time to adjust them in conference.

To Insist on Rates.

"I shall go to the conference and insist upon the house rates. I believe the bill as it left the house is a better bill, especially as to rates, than the bill as it came back from the senate."

From this it is taken to mean that a prolonged wrangle will take place in the conference room, as Mr. Fordney heads the house delegation. At the same time it was learned that the views of the ways and means committee chairman are shared by other republican leaders of the lower chamber. Ever since members of the house returned after the midsummer recess, there has been much dissatisfaction expressed over the numerous changes effected in the tariff by the senate.

Many house republicans, realizing how greatly the measure will add to living costs, have informed the leaders that unless the rates are reduced they will oppose the bill when finally brought up. Rumblings of their protests have assumed the form of revolt in some cases, for the members have just returned from the home ground and know, first-hand, what the sentiment there is.

Disclosures in Senate.

It is explained that the tariff bill as passed by the house was not brought to public attention. The methods employed by majority leaders in passing the measure there prevented full discussion of its schedules. In the senate, however, complete disclosures of the rates were made, causing public sentiment to discard its apathy and become aroused over the bill. Members of the house arrived home just in time to catch the full weight of this criticism, and reached the conclusion that further increases in the rates would result in political disaster for those who sponsored them.

The disposition of some of the house republicans to oppose the senate bill if the rates are not cut is shared also by a few senate republicans who voted for the measure Saturday. Senator Lenroot took this position, saying that he had great hopes of the conference changing the rates, adding that if this was not done he would vote against the conference report. Other senators who may take this position are Nelson, Minnesota, who condemned many of the schedules during debate; Kellogg, Minnesota, who also fought a number of the provisions; and Moses, New Hampshire, who branded the measure as an "economic bludgeon." It is a strange comment that these members should condemn the bill and then vote for it.

But few reductions are expected to be made in conference, due mainly to the fact that the conferees, largely, are high protectionists. They will fight all attempts to change the maximum rates, it is thought.

Fordney's Prediction.

Incidentally, Representative Fordney predicts that the conference will not last over three weeks. Observers have been unable to reconcile the statement today to "insist upon the house rates," indicating that he would refuse a compromise, unless it is that he hopes to storm down all opposition to his views.

Capital observers, however, do not take much stock in Mr. Fordney's predictions.

ATTEMPTING TRIP TO BRAZIL, GREAT SEAPLANE FALLS

Commander and Crew of Sampaio Correia Rescued
in Sea Near the Bahama Islands.

FLIGHT WAS PLANNED TO RIO DE JANEIRO

Tug Rushed to Salvage Plane, Believed Victim of Air Pocket in Windward Passage.

Washington, August 22.—The giant seaplane "Sampaio Correia," en route to the Brazilian centennial, collapsed in the sea tonight between Haiti and Cuba, the navy department has been advised.

The department announced a radio message, timed at 9 p. m., that it had received from the naval station at Guantanamo.

The message stated that the United States cruiser Denver from the station had picked up Lieutenant Hinton, the commander of the seaplane,
and the crew.

Hinton and the crew were picked up by the Denver at latitude 20 north and longitude 74.38, which point lies in the passage between Haiti and Cuba.

Besides Hinton, the members of the crew were, Dr. E. Pinto Martins, survivor; John Wilahusen, mechanic; George T. Bye, reporter for a New York paper; and J. Thomas Baltzell, news camera man.

The radio received by the department showed that no lives were lost from the plane.

The message added that a tug was being sent out from the naval station to assist in salvaging the plane.
Naval officials could not tell from the meager advice which had been received just what had happened to the plane, but from the location of the accident it was believed probable that the ship had been caught in an air pocket somewhere in Windward Passage and been forced down.

REALTOR ACCUSED OF TAKING GEMS

Jeweler Says He Pawned
$12,000 in Diamonds He Got to Show Sick Wife
in Hospital.

For alleged misappropriation of diamonds said to be valued at approximately $12,000 from May Brothers, Five Points jewelers, and for passing alleged worthless checks said to aggregate $4,000, Amos W. Braselton, widely known Atlanta real estate operator, was arrested on municipal court warrants Tuesday morning and retained under $5,000 bond for his appearance Thursday morning before Judge L. Z. Rosser, Jr.

Braselton was served with two warrants, one charging larceny after trust,
the other cheating and swindling.
Judge Rosser issued the warrants at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the instance of Martin May, head of the firm. Mr. May was represented by Attorneys Branch & Howard.

The jeweler charged that Braselton recently secured diamonds valued at approximately $12,000 from his store, representing that he wished to show them to his wife, who was ill at a local hospital. Braselton said that he expected to purchase a fine stone for his wife, it is alleged, and he wished her to select one to her liking.

Failing to return the jewels, according to the charges, Braselton was named defendant in the two municipal court warrants. After securing the diamonds, it is alleged that instead of returning them to the store he pawned them.

Braselton has been very active in local real estate circles for the past few months. When arraigned before Judge Rosser he entered an emphatic denial of the charges, declaring that there is nothing in them. He has offices in the Hurt building and lives at 1035 Peachtree street. Late Tuesday he could not be reached at his home or office.

UNEMPLOYMENT BACK IS REPORTED BROKEN

U. S. Steel Corporation
First to Announce Increase, and Other Concerns Quickly Follow.

DECREASE SHOWN IN UNEMPLOYMENT

Chicago, August 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The rising tide of prosperity has not only wiped out the unemployment problem of a few months ago, but has created an actual shortage of men with an accompanying increase in wages, according to employment agents, railway officials and manufacturers tonight.

One evidence of this, they said,
was to be found in the raise in pay announced for employees of the United States Steel corporation today. Employment agents of Madison street, the thoroughfare of the unemployed, complained that there was a scarcity of both railroad labor and farm hands and said that as a result higher wages were being offered. One railroad official attempted to show that the steel companies were being forced to pay higher wages because of the wages paid for the same class of labor by the railroads acting under authority of the railroad labor board.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, August 22.—Three big steel corporations, employing normally nearly 300,000 workers, today announced a 20 per cent wage increase for all day laborers in their manufacturing plants. The United States Steel corporation took the lead, but was quickly followed by the Midvale Steel & Ordnance company and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company.

In the absence of Charles Schwab and Eugene Grace of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, no other official of that company would commit himself. Secretary Brown said, however, he did not know of any action that had been taken on the wage question.
President Matthews of the Crucible Steel corporation said his company had taken no action "as yet." It was generally believed in financial circles that all important steel firms would announce increases within a few days.

News of the increase came as a surprise to the financial district, probably because wage adjustments in other industries have been generally downward. It was followed by slight recessions in the prices of steel shares.

Labor Supply Reduced.

No explanation of the increase was given by the steel corporations. However, it is known that the immigration law has cut off the supply of unskilled laborers which formerly drifted to the iron and steel centers.

When the labor shortage became acute last spring and the steel industry began to show signs of rehabilitation, temporary relief was offered by the employment of men thrown out of work by the coal strike.

Resumption of coal mining and the increasing demand for laborers in other industries, combined with the expected business revival this fall, reported to have caused apprehension among mill managers, who feared that the higher wages elsewhere would cause sufficient desertions to hamper their operations at a time when there was every prospect for heavily increased orders.

Scale of Pay.

The United States Steel corporation employs approximately 220,000 men, of whom 158,000 are affected by the wage increase. The highest rate paid by the company for day labor was 47 cents an hour, from February to May 1920. On May 16, 1920, a reduction of 20 per cent was announced and in July of the same year overtime was eliminated. On August 19, 1921, day labor was reduced to 30 cents an hour, the rate now in effect. The increase will bring the rate up to 36 cents an hour.

The average pay roll of the corporation during 1918, the banner year, was over $450,000,000 but it dropped to about $332,000,000 in 1921, when there were approximately 190,000 men employed.

The forecast of what is to come is seen in the large orders for rolling stock recently received by railroad equipment companies. The demand in other lines is also growing and there is much rush work on hand, which calls for forces in many plants in excess of the number now available. In this connection it is reported that little success has been obtained thus far in inducing men laid off in the dull period a year ago to return at the wages prevailing before.

TROLLEY WORKERS GRILLED TUESDAY IN STRIKE CASE

Conductor and Motorman Are Charged With Signaling Strikers Negroes
Were on Car.

PROBE IS CONDUCTED BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Negro Who Was Shot Down During Attack in Critical Condition—No Arrests Yet Made.

Federal officers late Tuesday afternoon were questioning E. G.
Knight and E. C. Ward, motorman and conductor respectively, on the Marietta street car upon which 10 negro employees of the Southern railway were riding early Monday morning before they were assaulted by a mob of 25 strikers when they alighted on Marietta at Oak streets.

Knight and Ward are accused by eye-witnesses to the attack on the negroes, as having entered into an exchange of signals with the strikers while the street car was about 100 yards from the point where the negroes left the car and were beaten severely with sticks, one of the negroes, Etheridge Hopkins, being shot down with a bullet wound in his back.
The latter is in a critical condition at Grady hospital and is expected to die, according to attendants. No arrests have been made yet.

Officers of the department of justice and marshal's office who, in conjunction with District Attorney Clint
W. Hager, are investigating the case, state that they have evidence to prove that the motorman and conductor on the street car aided the strikers by indicating the number of negro employees on the street car at the time.
They also indicated that evidence was in their possession which pointed to Knight and Ward as being involved in other cases where negro strikebreakers were assaulted.

G. Z. Ward, also a conductor employed by the Georgia Railway & Power company, was being questioned by the officers in connection with the case. Ward is said to have been with Motorman Knight Tuesday afternoon on a Marietta street car when he was summoned to appear before the district attorney.

According to information furnished the investigating officers, Motorman Knight held up both of his hands with the fingers extended indicating that there were ten men on the street car, while the car was about 100 yards from Oak street where the negroes alighted. At the same time, the conductor who was on the rear platform is alleged to have yelled out, "Bring all you got."

The investigation in progress in the district attorney's office, was being closely guarded to prevent them from being interviewed.

Court to Settle
Price of Hubby, Wife Decides

Don't Love Him, But Won't Let the Other Woman
Have Him.

Oakland, Cal., August 22.—If Mrs.
Edith Spreckles Wakefield, divorced wife of the late John D. Spreckles, Jr., capitalist, wants Rodney Kendrick, young San Francisco artist, she will have to pay Mrs. Nellie Kendrick, wife of the artist, $25,000 or whatever the court will give her in an alienation of affections suit, Frank M. Carr, Mrs. Kendrick's attorney, said here today. Mrs. Wakefield, who is suing her present husband, Frank Wakefield, San Francisco business man, for divorce, has expressed her love for the artist.

Reports from San Diego said that John D. Spreckles, Sr., was coming to San Francisco to investigate the triangle involving Mrs. Wakefield, particularly in connection with his revelation to the estate of his deceased son. Mrs. Wakefield is reported to have an $80,000 interest in the estate.

"Mrs. Kendrick decided today to go through with the alienation of affections suit," Carr announced. "The amount could not be less because of Mrs. Kendrick's 14 months old child.
Kendrick tried to see his wife in Alameda Sunday night to get her to drop the suit. He is trying to protect Mrs. Wakefield's interests. My client will also fight any divorce action brought by Kendrick."

When informed of the proposed suit, Mrs. Wakefield said:
"I do not see how any suit can be filed for the alienation of Kendrick's affections when Mrs. Kendrick spoke freely to every one of the fact that she wanted to divorce him."

Carr expects to file the suit Friday.

Commander of Army Of Irish Free State Is Killed by Assassin

COAL SETTLEMENT IN 2 MORE STATES REACHED TUESDAY

Illinois and Indiana Miners Will Enter Pits Tomorrow, After 144-Day Walkout.

NINE MILLION-TON OUTPUT WITHIN WEEK

Production in 2 Weeks'
Time Will Be Sufficient to Supply Households, Executive Says.

Chicago, August 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Soft coal operators and miners in two more states made peace today while anthracite operators and miners' representatives meeting in Philadelphia adjourned a joint conference subject to call without reaching an agreement.

Illinois and Indiana miners prepared tonight to enter the pits tomorrow, following the lead of Michigan, Iowa and Wyoming miners who yesterday concluded agreements with operators from these states. Southwestern operators and miners are meeting at Kansas City in an effort to bring about a settlement. The conferences will be resumed tomorrow.

The peace negotiations already completed caused the department of labor to estimate the weekly bituminous coal production at 9,000,000 tons within a week.

All the agreements thus far concluded in the bituminous industry have been based on the settlement concluded at Cleveland last week between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and his associates and coal operators from several states.

Terms of Agreement.

By the terms of this agreement, the miners returned to work at the same wage scale and under the same working conditions

Free State and Sinn Fein forces have waged constant guerrilla warfare.

Collins' most dramatic step, and the one best emphasizing his determination to make the Free State dominant was the recent battle of the Four Courts in Dublin.

The Sinn Fein forces seized the famous Four Courts building and were holding it. Collins demanded their surrender, and when it was not forthcoming opened a bombardment on the historic buildings. The Four Courts and other buildings in the vicinity were practically destroyed by artillery fire before the Sinn Fein troops were routed.

Since then the warfare on the Sinn Fein has been pushed relentlessly throughout Ireland.

Collins' death comes at a critical time. Arthur Griffith, active administrative and executive head of the Free State, died within the past fortnight. Griffith was president of the daily eireann. He had been for years the moderating factor in the Sinn Fein, and stood staunchly by Collins in establishment of the Free State.

Threatened for Week.

Threats have been made for the past week by the Irish irregulars to assassinate Collins because of the shooting and killing recently of Harry Boland, secretary to Eamon de Valera and for a time Sinn Fein representative in the United States. Boland was shot and killed when he refused to surrender to Free State forces.

Collins' career was meteoric. He was practically unheard of until 1913. Then he was described as "a priest named Michael Collins," who accompanied Sir Roger Casement on the Sinn Fein's mission to Germany to visit Irish prisoners of war.

He became famous in the rebellion of 1916, where he helped organize and commanded part of the rebel army of P. H. Pearse.

It was during his connection with this insurgent army that Collins became the most sought man in Ireland.

31 Years of Age.

Collins was born 31 years ago of humble parents in County Kerry. He had an ordinary elementary school education, and after working with his brother in the grocery business, entered the postal service.

At one time he was employed in a general postoffice in London as a sorter, where he astonished everyone by his extremist views on the Irish question. For his escapes from the soldiers and Irish police, Collins became known as "Elusive Mike." Once before he was reported slain in ambush in February, 1921, at Burgin street.

Several times he disguised as a woman to escape police. At another time when pursued by pursuers while attending a wake, he removed the body and hid in the coffin.

After becoming a member of Dail Eireann, Collins became finance minister to Eamon de Valera, and was one of the latter's chief supporters until their recent break. In February, 1921, it was Collins who engineered de Valera's return to Ireland after the latter had been on a mission to the United States, seeking to enlist the sympathy of this country in the Irish cause.

Collins was above average height, and was strongly built. His face has been described as both intellectual and cruel. He was square-jawed, and had piercing eyes.

Soldier Husband Of Atlanta Girl Not a Bigamist

"Just a jealous girl's effort for revenge," was the way Mrs. Emil Grunwald, formerly Miss Louise Holley, of Atlanta, described an attempt to prosecute her husband for bigamy. She was talking over long distance telephone from her home in New York city to her mother, Mrs. W. C. Foster, 122 E. Pine street, in Atlanta. The Constitution Sunday morning carried an exclusive story from a New York suburb on the New Jersey side of the state line concerning the case of special officers to lure Emil Grunwald from New York into New Jersey and there to incarcerate him in jail on charge of bigamy.

The charges were brought by a girl who claimed to have wedded the young man in 1918, just three days before he sailed overseas in Uncle Sam's uniform to fight in France. She claimed to have been cast off by the soldier who, on returning from foreign service in 1919, landed in a southern port and came to Atlanta, where he met and wooed pretty 17-year-old Louise Holley, whom he married and took with him to his New York home.

On reading in The Constitution Sunday of the plight of her son-in-law, Mrs. Foster immediately wired for further particulars. Yesterday afternoon over long distance telephone her children informed her that all was well, that a preliminary hearing in a New Jersey court on the bigamy charge fully vindicated young Grunwald and that the two were back in their cosy love nest at 442 West Fifty-ninth street, with Louise's happiness safe from further interference from the "jealous other girl."

NASHVILLE TOBACCO SALES STILL STRONG

Nashville, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—Nashville's tobacco market was at its usual height today in price and volume. Approximately one hundred thousand pounds were sold on the local market at a very satisfactory price, ranging from ten cents per pound to seventy cents.

It is the general belief in tobacco ranks around Nashville that there will, if the seasons are favorable, be at least from three million to five millions pounds grown here next year.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID MRS. ETHEL HENDRY

Tifton, Ga., August 22.—(Special.) The Methodist church was filled at the last tribute to Mrs. Ethel McCormick Hendry, wife of Vice President M. E. Hendry, of the National Bank of Tifton. The services were conducted by Pastor C. A. Jackson of the Tifton Methodist church, assisted by Rev. T. H. Thomson, of the Central Methodist church of Brunswick, and Rev. G. W. Durkin, pastor of the First Baptist church of Tifton.

Before her marriage Mrs. Hendry was Miss Ethel McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McCormick, of Hazelhurst. She was married to Mr. Hendry July 31, 1912, and he and one daughter, Ethel Grace, aged 8, survive her. A little son born two weeks ago in a sanitarium in Atlanta, preceded her to the grave. She was prominent in church and club work.

Besides her husband and daughter, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. G. E. McCormick, of Ocala, a brother, G. E. McCormick, Jr., of Mook's Corner, S. C., and two sisters, Mrs. R. H. Johnson, of Ocala, and Miss Minnie McCormick, of Newark, N. J.

GENERAL INCREASE FOR COKE WORKERS.

Pittsburgh, August 22.—A general increase in wages for miners and coke workers in the Fayette region will become operative, it became known here today when independent companies said they were prepared to announce a scale which will be the same as that of 1920.

The new scale will embody increases from 36 to 58 per cent for the various classes of labor in the mines and around the coke ovens, and will equal the highest rate ever paid for this class of work in the district, it was said. The majority of the companies operating in the region are owned by steel manufacturing corporations that use the entire production of their mills and furnaces, although a few mine coal and manufacture coke for the general market.

The Fayette county region has never been unionized by the United Mine Workers, although an attempt to bring the workers into the union was commenced when the coal strike was called last April.

Will Not Surrender. "You have not the capacity to legislate now because there is no harm only between the west and east. You are going to take the senate bill or you will have no bill. You will come back here to undo what you did about American valuation in order that we may have a bill."

"The senate will never surrender on the question of valuation. So if you are to have any legislation upon this subject at all, you will be compelled to come back here, swallow your words and say, for the sake of having legislation, that you must give up your American valuation."

"Who will say that the senate ever gave more deliberate consideration to any bill than to this bill, and in doing so changed many of the finance committee recommendations? The senate adopted foreign valuation because it knew that no party in this country could maintain its existence and have American valuation under the Fordney scheme. I wonder if the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Fordney) is going to accept the flexible provision with reference to the president?" "I am in favor of the house bill," Mr. Fordney responded, "and as I said before I am going to insist on the house bill."

"The gentleman is going to take the flexible provision, before he gets through with it," Mr. Garner retorted.

Desire to Hedge. "Let me tell you what is going to happen. I know the way you gentlemen are fixed. None of you want to defend this legislation before your constituents. You want to hedge, you want to say, 'I am for it as it passed the house,' but you are afraid to pass it and place it on the statute books, because you would have to defend it as a whole in that event, and the result is that you do not want it to go on the statute books before election."

"You do not want any bill at this time and you will not have any bill. I think you will adjourn or take a recess until after election. You will then tell the people that after the election you will come back and the conferees will then have finished their work and that you will put the law on the statute books, each one of you making his own tariff bill in his own way in his own district."

"When are you coming back to determine the question of American valuation? How long before you are going to ask for instructions? A week—ten days—two weeks—a month? Do you expect to hold these gentlemen here? If so, you will be disappointed."

"You cannot hold men in this hall when an election is approaching in November and their constituents are demanding their presence at home. So you may just as well arrange your matters now, because we are not going to furnish a larger proportion of democrats than you do republicans, as we have been doing for the last week."

OHIO DEMOCRATS ADOPT PLATFORM

Columbus, Ohio, August 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The records of the republican administration, both in national and state affairs, and the reduction of taxes in Ohio, were voted for by democrats in their state convention here today as the main issues of the coming political campaign.

The platform, adopted speedily and without amendment, touched on other issues, but dwelt in the main on alleged mismanagement of both state and national affairs by republicans.

Beyond affirmation of the platform of 1920, the state platform today did not mention the league of nations, nor prohibition enforcement among the subjects directly discussed. The Newberry fight in the senate also was ignored except for a brief mention.

One plank provided for "proper recognition" of the services of the veterans of the world war by the national government.

Charges Against G. O. P. Charges against the republicans included statements that "they have been utterly unable to grapple with the problems of government," that they were more interested in agrarianism and on plunder for a retinue of corrupt hangers-on, than on good government, and that "they failed in their obligations and pledges by a policy of vacillation, indefiniteness and even lack of sincerity."

The pending tariff bill came in for general condemnation. In the platform it was described as "outrageous" while Senator Atlee Pomerene, in his address, characterized the bill as the "pork barrel" legislation in the history of congress.

Thomas J. Duffy, temporary chairman and keynote speaker of the convention, declared that "since 1920, plutocracy has ruled in this nation with an iron hand, a wooden head and a stony heart."

With the slogan "stand by the president and the national administration," Ohio republican leaders came here today and laid their plans for the state campaign which will terminate at the polls November 7.

Congressman Simeon D. Fess, the nominee for United States senator, sounded the keynote of the campaign in a speech before the republican state convention.

Shortly before the convention convened the state central committee selected William H. Miller, of Columbus, as chairman of the campaign committee of nine members. Miller is a law student at Cornell University, the G. O. P. nominee for governor.

The convention, after listening to the keynote address, elected as its officers Senator Willis, recessed until tomorrow, when a platform endorsing the national and state administrations will be drafted.

Southern Railway Announces Last 1922 Excursion

The last excursion of the season has been announced by the Southern railway for September 2. The rates are Jacksonville, $7; Brunswick, $8.50; Tampa-St. Petersburg, $12. The tickets to Brunswick and Jacksonville are good returning on the night train September 4; those to Tampa and St. Petersburg are good on the night train returning September 6. The tickets are good on all regular night trains.

The three trains leave as follows: From Atlanta, 7:45, 9:45 and 11:35, all at night. They arrive at Jacksonville at 8:15 and 11:10, the morning. All trains carry coaches and standard sleeping cars.

DRAWN-OUT FIGHT OVER TARIFF BILL

diction over legislative matters. It is being recalled that months ago he predicted, when the bonus measure came up, that it would be a law within ten days. That was in February. He also predicted that the senate would make few changes in the tariff bill. It made over 2,000.

Meanwhile, democratic members of the house had some interesting things to say today. Representative Garrett, the minority leader, challenged the right of the body to refer the bill to conference with the difference over American and foreign valuation. Representative Garner, of Texas, predicted the longest conference in the history of tariffs.

"I predict that the conferees will be considering this bill longer than any other tariff bill in the history of this country," said Mr. Garner. "This bill has been characterized by delay, by consideration always by the republicans alone and the result is a longer delay three times what any other tariff bill has had. It will be continued to be considered in that way by republicans alone."

"You have not the capacity to legislate now because there is no harm only between the west and east. You are going to take the senate bill or you will have no bill. You will come back here to undo what you did about American valuation in order that we may have a bill."

PERRY PLEASED OVER RAIL BILL

Passage by the general assembly of the Brantley bill making important changes in the administration of affairs in the office of the state railroad commission has been received by the people of south Georgia with genuine satisfaction according to James A. Perry, state railroad commissioner, who returned to the capitol Tuesday, after an official trip to that section.

Mr. Perry stated he had discussed the new law with many well informed citizens of that part of the state and said all were well pleased with the changes that have been made.

"It was a surprise to me to learn that such general interest in the work of the commission existed and the fact that there was such widespread comment on the changes shows that public interest in the future work of the commission under the additional authority granted, will be watched with interest," Mr. Perry declared.

"The best results to come from the changes will be in the broadened scope of the commission and in the fact that under a new plan of assessing expenses against the utilities sufficient funds will be available.

"One of the hardest obstacles the present members of the commission had to face in their past work has been the lack of funds. With a sufficient amount of money available to enable the commission to make thorough examination and inspection of all matters before it—the board will be able to function with even greater efficiency."

According to the information given Mr. Perry by the citizens who have been interested in litigation before the commission the new law will provide ample activities for all five members of the body and in fact, with additional duties will exact even more time and energy from the commission members than in the past, and calls for members of experience as never before.

"From the expressions of the gentlemen with whom I conversed, I learned that some of the most important work for the state ever handled by a commission is coming up under the broadened scope afforded by the new law," he said.

Mr. Perry said he found the people of south Georgia in much more opti-

Cotton Compress Changes Sought By Central Road

The state railroad commission Tuesday, after a hearing lasting several hours, took under advisement the petition of the Central of Georgia railroad asking authority to compress cotton at any compress it desires and to change present rules governing the transportation of cotton to points where compresses are located. The railroad asked to assess a charge of three cents a hundred pounds on cotton moved through one compress town to another.

The case is an important one to places where cotton compresses are located. Under the present rules the railroads do not move cotton from one compress point to another and the effect of the change would be to make changes in the cotton buying territory of the large and small cities.

Cotton compress men in Atlanta, Macon and Augusta favor the change while the compress men in the smaller cities of the state oppose it. The large cities were represented at the hearing by B. Gilliam, of Macon. The small cities were represented by S. Linthicum, an Atlanta rate expert. F. D. McConnell, general freight agent of the Central of Georgia, appeared for the railroad.

MANSLAUGHTER LAID TO DRIVER OF AUTO

Charlie Merritt, driver of an automobile which crashed into a telephone post at Washington and Rawson streets on June 5, was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday for involuntary manslaughter.

Reuben Tice, a passenger in Merritt's machine, was killed in the accident.

A murder indictment was returned against Jesse Smith, colored, who was charged with stabbing to death Mannie Lester, another negro.

murder condition that for several months. He said crop prospects are better than expected and that bankers, business men and farmers all appeared to be in higher spirits.

Concerning his candidacy for reelection, Mr. Perry said: "I sincerely believe both my opponents will not carry more than ten counties."

McCLELLAND INVITES SOUTHERN ELKS HERE

John S. McClelland, chairman of the 1923 convention board of Elks, Tuesday issued invitations to all southeastern lodges to send representatives to Atlanta on September 4, as guests of Atlanta lodge No. 78.

Plans will be discussed at this time for making the 1923 convention of the grand lodge of Elks, which is to meet in Atlanta in July, the greatest thing of its kind ever held south of the Potomac river.

There are 90 lodges in six states of this district divided as follows: North Carolina 17, South Carolina 9, Georgia 17, Florida 19, Alabama 14, Tennessee 14. Special entertainment has been planned for the guests and a number of affairs will be given in their honor.

The local lodge is particularly anxious to have the nearby lodges realize what an opportunity this gigantic assembly in 1923 will mean to the entire section.

The Atlanta lodge is the first in the southeast to have the honor of being host to the national body and local officials are anxious that the lodges of the district bring a full membership to Atlanta next July.

All preliminary plans being perfected, the entire scheme of entertainment for the great convention is rapidly being mapped out. Committees are being formed and it is expected that all details will soon be delegated to enthusiastic and responsible workers who will do all within their power to make the 1923 convention the most successful ever held.

ALBANY LIGHT CASE TO BE HEARD SEPT. 6

The protest of the city of Albany against the power and light rates charged the city by the Georgia Alabama Power company was received Tuesday by the state railroad commission and after an agreement of attorneys a hearing in the case was postponed until September 6. The postponement was ordered so that the company could produce certain records in the case required by the commission.

The city of Albany was represented by J. Taft Mann, city attorney, and Pottle & Hoffmeyer, attorneys. The power company was represented by J. Prince Webster, of Atlanta.

OPPOSITION SEEN TO COAL AGENCY

Even Republicans Protest Against Harding's Legislative Program—Bonus to Meet Buffeting.

Washington, August 22.—Debate on the president's coal commission bill will begin in the house, Wednesday, and Floor Leader Mondell hopes to jam through its passage at the earliest possible date.

Likewise, in the senate, the soldier bonus bill comes up for debate, Wednesday—provided a quorum is present—and as soon as it is disposed of, the Borah coal commission bill, just reported out of the senate labor committee, may then be considered.

Definite antagonism to the bonus has assumed some proportions, and the similar senate opposition to the coal bill may not be far distant. But sentiment against the emergency measure in the house is definite and widespread.

Even the republican side of the house has protested against the bill, said to have been sponsored by the white house. Representative Bland, Indiana, member of the house labor committee and author of a coal commission bill on which extensive hearings were conducted last spring, sees in the Winslow resolution "an attempt to discover hidden facts in one of our greatest industries by men who know nothing about the business. There is no more important thing for the country to have at this hour than definite, scientifically accurate, and truthful data concerning the whole industry. I shall do all I can to make the bill conform to my ideas so often expressed."

Bland has also made public a telegram just received from President John L. Lewis, of the mine workers, in which Lewis declared that the Cleveland coal conference agreement "...vides for the personnel of a coal commission to be selected by miners and operators and to be approved by the president of the United States, or in event the miners and operators disagree the president shall name the commissioners."

"I do not know whether it is the intent of the administration to nullify the provisions of the Cleveland agreement dealing with the coal commission, but if so I doubt the desirability of such action."

"The operators and miners, parties to the Cleveland agreement, made honest efforts to meet the situation by providing for efficient investigation, and if the federal government now proposes to disregard the rights and privileges of miners and operators in making an independent investigation, the responsibility will lie with those who recommended such action."

The main points of difference between the Borah coal bill and Winslow measure, are that the Borah bill specifies recommendations on which the commission would report. These recommendations relate: first—to standardization of the mines, and closing those operations "which by reason of their natural limitations fall below the standard"; second—to standardizing the cost of living for mine workers; third—to standardize the basis of calculating overhead costs of production and distribution; fourth—to the advisability of nationalization; and fifth—to the feasibility or necessity of governmental regulation.

Likewise, the Winslow bill, the personnel of the commission is a public group, strictly non-partisan.

"HEART AND HOME HEALER" IS FINED IN POLICE COURT

Chicago, August 22.—Albert J. Moore, self-styled healer of "broken homes and hearts," was fined $100 in police court today on a charge that he had taken money under false pretense from women who were "disciples" at his "life institute."

The fine was imposed after Mrs. James H. Cartwright, wife of an assistant justice of the supreme court of Illinois, testified that she had paid Moore $2,500 for lessons in raising the dead.

"He told me 'the deader they are the easier it is to raise them,'" she declared on the witness stand. "I said he could heal the sick, too, and I was to be a healer."

"Well, could he?" she was asked. "Say, the witness replied with scorn in her tone, 'say, he couldn't even grow hair on his bald spot.'"

Moore—nonchalant, suave, quiet—heard the verdict without the slightest change in the satisfied smile with which he entered the courtroom in the midst of a bevy of middle aged women believers.

BECK IS ABSOLVED OF ALL MISCONDUCT

Washington, August 22.—Secretary Weeks has received a voluminous report made by the army board of investigation into the killing of Lieutenant-Colonel Paul W. Beck by former Judge Jean Day, of Oklahoma City, early last April. The war secretary said today he had not read the report but it was indicated that the army officer was found by the board to be not guilty of misconduct.

GOVERNOR VETOES PENSION MEASURE

Governor Hardwick Tuesday vetoed the bill passed by the legislature appropriating $1,200,000 to the Confederate pensioners of Georgia. In announcing his disapproval of the measure the governor declared that its passage by the legislature without the concurrent passage of a similar revenue measure was "unjustified and unjustifiable." The governor declared that in view of the failure of the revenue to pay the appropriation it would be impossible for him to approve the bill.

In his statement the governor placed the blame on the legislature, declaring that the existing financial situation that existed fell well and that "full and explicit warning was given on the floor of both houses on the subject."

The vote as applied to the senate resolution applies to the appropriation of $1,200,000 made for the year 1922, the total appropriation for the Confederate soldiers for these two years under the resolution being $2,400,000.

Governor's Statement.

In announcing his veto of the Confederate pension bill the governor issued the following statement:

It is with very deep and very real regret that I withhold my approval from the bill for the appropriation of $1,200,000 for the year 1922, and the further sum of $1,200,000 as additional pension appropriations for the year 1923.

At the beginning of the present session of the general assembly, I made it perfectly plain to the members of the Georgia legislature that the excess of the revenues for the year 1922 was only $118,812.

Subsequent to the preparation of my message to the general assembly, of date June 26, 1922, when the final payment of the debt was made, it developed that the legislature had appropriated more money than was available to pay the old class of pensions at the rate of $150 per annum for 1922 and $175 per annum for 1923. The total amount appropriated was $1,200,000.

This is a serious situation for the year 1922 and for the year 1923, and for the year 1924, in the face of these facts, without raising a dollar of additional revenue for the state, to undertake to appropriate more money than was available to pay the old class of pensions at the rate of $150 per annum for 1922 and $175 per annum for 1923, would be to make a mockery of the law.

We cannot spend more than our revenues.

Ruin Faces State.

Ruin faces either an individual or a state that engages in this practice and continues in it. One year ago, the general assembly succeeded in wiping out a deficit of substantially $3,000,000 by discounting five years' rental of the state's railroad property by holding down the pension appropriations to the old classes and to the old rates.

In that way we were enabled to pull the state out of debt, and now it is proposed to repeat exactly the same situation by which the state got into debt, by making these enormous appropriations.

The general assembly knew full well that there was no revenue in the treasury to meet these appropriations and not the least possibility that an additional penny of revenue could accrue to the state during the year 1922. To make these appropriations, under these circumstances, is, in my opinion, wholly indefensible and wholly unjustified.

It is unfair to the public, it is unfair to the pensioners themselves, for it would lead them to expect the payment of the pensions at the rate they were appropriated for, and there would not be a single penny in the treasury with which they could be paid.

The general assembly knew full well that such was the situation when it passed this resolution, and full and explicit warning was openly given on the floor of both houses in the debate upon the subject. If I were to sign this bill, one day's delay of this money could be paid. If the general assembly had really desired to pay these appropriations it would undoubtedly have provided the revenue with which to meet them.

Which I urged upon them, pointing out many ways in which it could be done, without injustice to any interest.

Useless Proceeding.

Since the general assembly was either unable or unwilling to raise the revenue, it was a useless proceeding to go through the farce of attempting to make these appropriations. If they had made them within an amount which by any possible means could have been met with the small surplus on hand, I would have approved the legislation in preference to any other legislation for any other object whatever. Since they have deliberately made these appropriations so large that it is impossible to pay them, I have been unable to adopt that course.

My approval of this bill would not only plunge the state's finances into disorder, leave it with a heavy deficit to face, but it would do these pensioners no good whatever, and I cannot be a party to their deception or disappointment.

To say that these appropriations are authorized by a law, whether constitutional or statutory, does not alter the situation nor make a stronger case for their payment, because mere authority of law to make an appropriation confers no moral right upon legislative body to make it, unless it simultaneously provides the revenue with which to meet it.

For the above reasons, I am constrained to withhold my approval of this resolution, and the same is hereby vetoed.

This August 21, 1922.

(Signed) THOMAS W. HARDWICK, Governor.

SYRUP PLANT SOUGHT
BY WAYCROSS BODY

Waycross, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—Steps have been taken by the Waycross Chamber of Commerce toward establishing a syrup cannery plant here. Estimates are being received from the various counties in this section as to the available quantities of syrup.

A number of inquiries have come to Waycross recently as to the feasibility of establishing such a plant here. Syrup from Ware county has been pronounced by government experiments to be the best in the world.

papers, but the, don't mean anything," he declared.

"What you want now," he continued, "is action. You want somebody who will do something. It has always been my desire and it has been my practice to leave a big mark during my administration as mayor."

The speaker pointed out Lakewood as one of his accomplishments and said another was to free the city of a big deficit handed down to him from a former administration.

He criticized the handling of the bond money, and promised in the event of his election to put some speed behind the projects of improvement and get a dollar's value for a dollar.

Mr. Woodward's address was his first campaign speech since his entry into the contest Monday.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. O. A. Wentworth, who presided in the absence of Miss Eleonore Raoul, president.

Three Rallies Held.

Three meetings were held in the fifth ward Tuesday night at which candidates for municipal office were heard. Approximately 30 candidates spoke at the English Avenue school, including Councilman J. R. Nutting, Chief Beavers and Walter Sims running for mayor.

Women sponsored a meeting at Ponders avenue and Marietta street addressed by several candidates, and applicants for political office also spoke at a meeting of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, at Ashby street and Bellwood avenue.

DEMANDS REMOVAL OF PROH CHIEFTAIN

Washington, August 22.—Representative Hill, republican, Maryland, today addressed a letter to Secretary Mellon requesting the immediate removal of Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, who Mr. Hill charged "engaged in defrauding the United States government in that he is using and causing to be used the official mail of the treasury department for the sending out of personal political propaganda in the interest of himself and his associates, the anti-saloon league."

In support of his charges, Representative Hill stated in the letter that Commissioner Haynes "has been sending under mail franks a bulletin under the title of 'information bureau prohibition unit, immediate release,' dated August 21, containing an interview in which the commissioner discussed the enforcement of the prohibition amendment. In the statement the commissioner is quoted as saying, 'there never was greater necessity for all law-abiding forces to get together and conditions which have come out wholly on the side of law and order should have the fullest support at the polls.'"

Explaining that he is a candidate for re-election, Mr. Hill asserted in the letter that "Prohibition Commissioner Haynes is using money derived from taxes of which I personally pay a part for a personal propaganda against those who, in accordance with our sworn duty, are advocating a modification of the absurd and tyrannical Volstead act."

The letter further charged that Commissioner Haynes was "neglecting the business of his office and making stump speeches in favor of himself and the anti-saloon league throughout the United States."

sludge, mixed with water, separated it into its components, the alum to the top in a coagulated state, the red silt sank and turned a whitish color.

The by-product he said had been freed of its oxide of iron and was pure clay. The residue was almost as fine and as velvety to the touch as talc.

Mr. Mathis stated that he had sent samples to the Rockwood Pottery, in Ohio, and the company had replied asking him in what quantities he could furnish the clay.

Large quantities of sulphuric acid will be required to reclaim the alum, stated the chemist, but he said the market value of the clay would more than offset this cost, and the cost of the alum would be a clear gain each year by the city.

DEFENDED HIS MOTHER; IS CLEARED OF MURDER

Athens, Tenn., August 22.—John Shipley was acquitted here today of a charge of murder for killing his father, Dr. Augustus Shipley, April 30, last. The defendant claimed that he found his father in a drunken frenzy choking his mother and that he shot his father to save the mother's life. His testimony was corroborated by his mother and sister, Miss Mattie Shipley.

SPALDING PLANS FOR COUNTY FAIR

Griffin, Ga., August 22.—(Special.) The Griffin and Spalding county fair will be held this year October 16 to 21, it was announced today by H. Bruce Montgomery, secretary of the fair association. The Spalding county fair was not held last year, due to unfavorable conditions. Officials state that the exhibition this fall will be the largest and best ever held in the county.

A large premium list has been prepared and is being distributed. Farmers in this section have already started to bring a string of fast race hogs to Griffin for the week of the fair. The half-mile dirt track here is one of the fastest half-mile tracks in the south and some excellent racing is expected.

Other amusements have also been secured and fair officials state that this year's fair will be the best ever held in Spalding county.

Flynt Opens Campaign.
James J. Flynt, candidate for congress from the sixth district, announced today that J. A. Darney had assumed active charge of his campaign, and that S. B. Wallace would be assistant to Mr. Darney.

Judge Flynt has opened campaign headquarters in a local office building and is planning to make an active campaign in his race against J. Walter Wise, the present congressman from this district.

A campaign committee of 100 leading citizens from Spalding county has been named, with an executive committee composed of Lloyd Cleveland, chairman; J. A. Darney, S. B. Wallace, J. P. Nichols, Jr., and S. B. Flynt.

A finance committee with J. B. Tyus chairman, J. W. Gresham, T. Blakely, P. M. Cleveland and J. C. Brooks as members, has been appointed, with L. P. Goodrich chairman, A. K. Maddox, Rev. J. Marion Stafford, Roy S. Wood, W. H. Taylor and J. J. Hunt.

Judge Flynt and his supporters will make a speaking tour over the district.

Auto Victim Barred.
Funeral services for Wilbur Simonon, who was killed between Griffin and Zebulon in an automobile smash Sunday, were held at Midway this morning, conducted by Rev. J. H. Parr.

The deceased was returning to Griffin together with Charles Woodall and General Tilley, when in attempting to pass a buggy the automobile skidded into a ditch.

Woodall, who was driving, according to reports, has been placed under arrest in the Pike county jail at Zebulon, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. At the time he was charged with that offense, Simonon's death was not known to the authorities.

The deceased was 26 years of age and unmarried. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simonon, three sisters and five brothers.

SECRETARY EL PASO CHAMBER VISITS LOCAL OFFICIALS

D. A. Bandeen, general manager of the El Paso, Texas, chamber of commerce, arrived in Atlanta Tuesday at noon, stopping here for a day on his trip to Chicago and other points north and west. He is trying to obtain new industries for El Paso. The drive being conducted by the El Paso chamber is general, nature and aims to attract new industries for the bustling Texas city, which is said to be one of the most progressive in the country.

It is claimed that it is the natural gate city from the United States into the Mexican mining districts of Chihuahua and Sonora, lying below Juarez.

BLALOCK EXPLANATION ATTACKED BY ADAMS

A new turn was taken Tuesday in the controversy between Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Brown and A. O. Blalock, candidate for nomination over the circulation of an affidavit of J. R. Adams, of Fayette county, to the effect that Blalock had illegally disposed of 100 bales of cotton.

Blalock, in a statement, made public by Adams, reiterated his original charge against Blalock, and declaring he had made his affidavit unswayed by Commissioner Brown.

In his statement made public Tuesday Adams charges that statements made by Blalock about the transaction in a card issued to the newspapers are untrue. Adams charged that Blalock, as a banker at Fayette, had made a loan of 100 bales of cotton to Blalock at the time the loan was made cotton was selling at 28 cents a pound and that Blalock sold his cotton. He charged that after he went to the bank to settle the loan he found Blalock had sold his cotton without authority and that Blalock agreed to settle with him for it at 11 3/4 cents a pound.

Adams' Statement.
Following is the statement of Mr. Adams:

Final Constitution: I note in a recent issue of your paper a card from A. O. Blalock, in which he justifies himself in having disposed of one hundred bales of cotton I had placed with him as security.

As to the affidavit that Blalock signed, I wish to say that it was made of my own free will, unswayed by any threat or promise, and I am ready to make the same affidavit before any court of law.

Blalock says I am not a regular customer at his bank. This is untrue. I have been a customer of his bank for the past five years. Blalock says that I agreed that he could sell my cotton at any time and place. Blalock knows this is untrue. Nothing was further from my mind. I could have and did sell my cotton myself if I had wanted it sold, but with thousands of other farmers I borrowed money from the bank to buy cotton. Blalock is a banker, and he knows that a banker's duty is to protect the interests of his depositors.

Blalock says that he sold my cotton for 28 cents per pound and only offered to give me 11 3/4 cents per pound when I demanded my cotton. Blalock says that he got for my cotton the difference between 28 cents and 11 3/4 cents and the 11 3/4 cents he offered me for my cotton. Blalock says twelve jurors will pass on this case. That may be, but I have been ever successful in getting a trial. Every attempt to have this case tried by a jury has failed. Blalock has rendered a verdict for his son as a witness to prevent the twelve jurors mentioned from acting on this matter.

I sold Blalock every cent I owed him in May, 1921. Yet Blalock received for my cotton in November, 1920, $12,028.24, which money rightfully is mine, and which has been out of the use of me nearly two years and unable to get it.

I had no desire to make myself an issue in this case, but being a farmer and knowing the hardships that have undergone, I felt it a duty to my fellow farmers to get control of the farmers' department of agriculture.

Respectfully,
J. R. ADAMS.

Marines May Choose Port Assignments On Re-enlistment

"See America First" is the slogan of John William Pepper, an ex-marine of Waycross, Ga., who was re-enlisted for four years and transferred to the post at Mare Island, Cal., Tuesday by Captain George Bower, United States marine corps recruiting officer at room 510 postoffice building.

The Waycross marine with four years prior service to his credit, applied for special assignment for duty in California. Captain Bower stated that the special assignment was made possible by a recent order received to the effect that any ex-marine who had a discharge reading excellent, could choose any post in the United States for his transfer, and this is one of the reasons why such a large number of former "soldiers of the sea" are returning to the service.

In addition to Private Pepper the following new recruits were accepted Tuesday by Captain Bower: The V. Shepard, Monroe, Ga.; Amos E. Cobb and John Sid Jones, Metter, Ga.; Hubert Motley, Newman, Ga.; Chandler Lee Booth, Gordon, Ga.; and Dewey Tillman, Bolivar, Tenn., and were transferred to the recruit camp at Parris Island, S. C., for training.

Gas in the stomach and bowels doesn't always result from dyspepsia, improper diet, or the fermentation of food. In most cases it is due to a highly sensitive condition of the stomach nerves.

To get rid of the trouble, you must build up and strengthen these weak, irritated nerves of the stomach. Taking artificial dietetics, such as poplin or hush, only makes the stomach weaker than ever. It is like using dynamite to a pain—the relief given is deceptive and harmful.

Baumann's Gas Tablets act directly upon the affected nerves and gradually assist in restoring them to their natural, healthy state. The tablets are quickly dissolved, and you will no longer be bothered with pain around your heart, indigestion, shortness of breath, cramping at the pit of the stomach or distress after eating.

GLEN M. HUDSON GETS LIFE TERM

Glen M. Hudson, Dougherty county farmer, whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment Tuesday by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, will be taken to the state prison farm at Milledgeville to begin serving his term.

The necessary papers can be completed according to information obtained Tuesday at the state prison commission.

Hudson was sentenced to life in the state prison following his conviction in Dougherty county of killing his two stepsons, 5 and 13 years old, respectively, the crime for which he was charged being one of the most atrocious in the criminal history of the state. The crime was committed more than a year ago.

Hudson was later executed in the Dougherty county jail Friday, and preparations for the hanging were underway when the governor commuted the death sentence. The action of the governor was based on a recommendation for clemency submitted by the prison commission and because of a doubt existing as to the guilt of the man.

Wife Was Freed.
The wife of Hudson, who was also charged with the murder, and after a sensational trial in which she testified that her husband committed the crime, was acquitted. Hudson stoutly proclaimed his innocence and asserted that a negro had killed the two little Hudson children while they were in the yard at Hudson's home near Albany.

The governor issued a statement in connection with his action asserting that careful examination of the case disclosed that the evidence against Hudson was circumstantial. He said that while the evidence was strong, it was not strong enough to remove all doubt from his mind as to the guilt of Hudson before the commission of the crime.

The sturgeon fish of the West Indies extracted blood from those who handled it. Hudson was circumstantial. He said that while the evidence was strong, it was not strong enough to remove all doubt from his mind as to the guilt of Hudson before the commission of the crime.

Children Were Killed.
The two Hudson children were killed thirteen months ago at Hudson's home. The double murder occurred early one morning. The children were with their father as they were eating a watermelon. It was alleged by the prosecution that Hudson killed the children because he was unwilling that Hudson and his wife should be charged with the murder of the children. Hudson denied killing the children, and his wife denied the charge.

Hudson denied killing the children, and his wife denied the charge. Hudson said they were killed by one of the negroes on the place. The sheriff of Dougherty county testified that he obtained a full confession from Hudson, but Hudson denied this confession.

Hudson's wife was jointly indicted for the crime. During her trial, Hudson declared Hudson was guilty and had killed the children. Hudson said he had forbidden them to eat. The crime attracted wide attention at the time and feeling was running high.

For a time Hudson was taken to the Bibb county jail at Macon for safety.

POSTAL INSPECTORS PLAN FOR MORE SPACE

Plans to increase postal facilities in the Atlanta district, which embraces the states of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, by leasing of additional buildings to care for the increasing volume of mail, were discussed Tuesday at a conference of twenty-two postal inspectors in the Atlanta office.

In the office of Louis A. Johnson, postoffice inspector in charge, increased floor space and machinery for handling mail in the Atlanta district are the major items to be considered. The Atlanta district is to be enlarged by the acquisition of other buildings, it was stated.

New Machinery.
New machinery and additional clerks will be installed in the local postoffice addition to expedite handling of the large volume of mail passing through the Atlanta terminal. The new addition will be remodeled, machinery installed and ready for occupancy within the next three months in order to care for the holiday rush.

In the last three years the Atlanta postoffice has been congested to its utmost capacity, all of the mail distribution being assorted and handled on the first floor and in the basement. So great has been the increase of mail that the basement, which was originally intended as a distribution place, has even become congested.

"In providing additional facilities for handling mail in Atlanta," declared Mr. Johnson, "the department believes that not only will the service be greatly facilitated but the efficiency of the postal employees will be enhanced. The highest degree of efficiency cannot be maintained in poorly lighted, inadequately ventilated and stuffy mail rooms such as are in use now in the basement of the Atlanta postoffice."

"The additional building to be ready for occupancy within the next three months will unquestionably relieve the present congestion and greatly facilitate distribution of the mail here."

To Enlarge Offices.
Postoffices in cities as far as Jacksonville, Savannah, Columbia, S. C.; Macon, Rome and others in the Atlanta district are to be enlarged by the acquisition of other buildings, it was stated.

The twenty-two inspectors attending the conference here were instructed to lease buildings and eliminate the congestion in their respective offices at once.

Inspectors attending the convention were Louis A. Johnson, inspector in charge, Atlanta; Robert E. Barry, Atlanta; William B. Brannon, Albany; Frank C. Ellis, Dublin; Clyde Fleming, Atlanta; Harry H. Hudson, Savannah; C. H. Knight, Columbia, S. C.; Garland McGregor, Valdosta; Newton A. McKew, Rome; Ernest J. Mansfield, Greenville, S. C.; Thomas C. Palmer, Jacksonville; Elton C. Pickett, Florence, S. C.; Fred A. Rieck, Charleston, S. C.; Harry A. Roberts, Miami, Fla.; Frank H. Buford, Columbia, S. C.; Lewis A. Stone, Tampa, Fla.; Hiram G. Sutterfield, Orlando, Fla.; William H. Tafel, Orangeburg, S. C.; Robert H. Tomlinson, Macon.

Seaplane Wreck Draws Attention Of Dry Sleuths

New York, August 22.—The story told by three men landed at Long Beach early today by a suspected running schooner after having been rescued from the crippled seaplane.

Ambassador II, tonight attracted the attention of prohibition headquarters. State Director Parsons announced that circumstances surrounding the plane's adventures would be investigated. Major Bernard L. Smith, head of the Aeromarine Airways, which owns the Ambassador II and other commercial planes, promised every possible aid. The fate of the plane, abandoned, it was said, when an unnamed schooner as mysterious as the flying dutchman had picked up the stranded trio, has not been established.

The trio, who said the schooner had slipped away after selling them a dory for $25 and letting them row the waves, declared they dimly recall being swamped on touching the beach in the high sea, and also had been abandoned.

From the fact that the schooner was unnamed and the refugees, the skipper, Major Smith inferred that she was a liquor smuggler, many of which have been reported off the Long Island shore.

The actors in the latest drama of the sea, Captain W. T. Miller, pilot; Harold Thompson, mechanic, and V. S. Robinson of Pittsburg, passengers, dropped out of sight after their rescue. Despite the hardships they presumably encountered in fighting the waves, they were able to land in a motor launch, from a height of 1,200 feet, the two aviators, abed at 3 a. m. were off five hours later in another plane with two passengers bound for Saratoga. Robinson, too, hastened from the city, with the announcement by the company that he had gone to Atlantic City. Late today none of the trio had been located at either destination.

DR. W. W. POWER, WIDELY-KNOWN PHYSICIAN, DIES

Buford, Ga., August 22.—(Special.) Dr. W. W. Power died here Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock of a cancer. He was 76 years old and had been a prominent physician of this section for 50 years. The cancer first appeared on his face about 20 years ago, and he has been under the treatment of some of the leading specialists of Atlanta and other cities.

Dr. Power began practicing medicine in 1872, and soon became one of the most successful physicians in the state. He had practiced in Athens, Buford and other points. He had a wide circle of friends.

He is survived by two sons, F. C. and H. B. Power of New York City; a daughter, Mrs. James Stringer, of Buford; two brothers, C. G. and J. G. Power; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Wilson, of Buford, Mrs. A. J. Street, of Atlanta, and Mrs. J. A. Ambrose, of Lawrenceville. Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Baptist church, with Rev. A. B. Couch of Macon, in charge.

KILLS TWO CHILDREN, THEN SLAYS HERSELF

Belmore, Ohio, August 22.—Mrs. Emma Green, 40, killed herself in her home two miles east of here today after she had killed her two children, Coral, 2, and Stanley, 5, by cutting their throats with a razor.

The bodies of the three were found on the kitchen floor when her husband returned to the house at noon. Dependence on the death of an older child early this year is given as the cause of the deed.

ONLY ONE PRIORITY CLASS TO GET COAL

Until further instructions are received coal will be shipped into Georgia only to class two priorities, this class being composed of railroads, utilities, state, county, municipal and United States governments; hospitals, schools and other public institutions, according to an announcement made by Commissioner John T. Boileuflet, fuel distributor for Georgia.

Commissioner Boileuflet said it would be impossible to receive applications below class two at this time.

This announcement was made following receipt of instructions from Henry B. Spencer, federal fuel distributor. The federal distributor has authorized operators to make shipments to class two priorities upon proper certificates from the state fuel distributor.

Commissioner Boileuflet, speaking informally, said the question of shipping coal to other priorities in such quantities as is under consideration in Washington now. The other classes include food manufacturing companies, cotton gin and cotton oil crushers, and other classes.

Class two is as follows:
1. For fuel for railroads and other common carriers, and for bunkering ships and for public utilities which directly serve the general public under a franchise therefor.
2. For electric power and light, gas, water and sewer works, ice plants which directly serve the public generally with ice, or supply refrigeration for human foodstuffs; hospitals for the United States, or county or municipal governments and for their hospitals, schools, and for their other public institutions—all to the end that such common carriers, public utilities, electric power and light, gas, water and sewer works, ice plants which directly serve the public generally with ice, or supply refrigeration for human foodstuffs; izations in the state might well begin to educate the people, especially in the forest areas, to the burning necessity for a conservation of the timber supply of Georgia, pine and hardwood, and to carefulness of hunters during the approaching open season not to drop lighted matches or leave burning camp fires where danger from forest fires is imminent.

THE GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL.

Council wisely took no action at its Monday meeting on the proposition that it make inquiry at this time as to the advisability of acquiring additional property adjoining the Brown lot on Washington street, now owned by the city, for the location of the new Girls' High School.

Having submitted to the people the question of taking a part of Grant park for the location of the new school it was thought best that no further action be taken until after the city primary, which fortunately is so near at hand as to assure an early expression of the subject.

Several members of council took the position that as there was no reasonable doubt as to the vote being against the proposition to take a part of Grant park, council should proceed at once to take preliminary steps in the matter of getting another location.

If the city primary were not so close at hand, this contention might have been urged with telling effect. But since the people will make direct expression in a few days, council did the wise thing in awaiting the result of the vote.

If the vote to locate the school in Grant park should be in the affirmative—which is not probable—the announcement that several of the Grant heirs will carry the question in court before they will submit to the use of the donation of their philanthropic ancestor for other than the purpose for which it was decided to the city, means that the construction of the Girls' High School on this property would be delayed for several years, even if ultimately approved.

There is certainly enough in the contention of the Grant heirs to carry the question to court of final resort; in the meantime the girls of Atlanta would be denied the high school facilities to which they are entitled, and will be kept for a long time subject to the dangers of their present inadequate housing.

Generally speaking, it is a dangerous precedent to encroach upon the city parks.

The people of Atlanta are exceedingly jealous of their park possessions and in the past they have been very slow to yield a foot of any of them for other than park purposes.

If this proposition is voted down, as now seems to be likely, the city should proceed without a day's delay towards the selection of a satisfactory location. In this connection The Constitution does not hesitate to say that Chairman F. M. Inman, of the bond commission, has offered the best possible solution of the situation in the Brown lot location.

It is near enough in to meet the demands of the whole city, it has splendid street car facilities for all parts of the city, it is very near the present location of the Girls' High School, and the city already owns a large part of the property.

The suggestion is certainly worth very careful study when the time is ripe for it.

THE MORRIS BROWN MEET.

The meeting to be held at the Auditorium next Sunday afternoon in behalf of the Greater Morris Brown university movement well deserves the encouragement and the support not only of the negroes of the city, but of the white people as well.

This movement has as its object the raising of an additional fund to put this well-known negro institution upon a broader footing, thus enabling it to extend its usefulness and to better serve the state.

Those who are in charge of this institution have rendered marked service in emphasizing the fact that the welfare of the state can be better served by mutual co-operation between the races in the matter of elevating the standard of citizenship than it can be by racial discord.

Various negro organizations of the city are taking an active interest in contributing to this very worthy fund, and they are asking, and should receive, the help of the city.

The object of this movement will be dwelt upon at Sunday's meeting, and several well-known white citizens who know of the good work being done by this institution will participate in the program, which, by the way, is one of varied interest, a notable feature being a chorus of 500 voices.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. KITTRELL

Mister Good Times.

Look at Mr. Good Times

Comin' 'round the bend,

Shoutin' 'Halleluiah' in it.

With every man for friend.

Knew that he was comin'.

All the weary while,

For the boss he was ridin'.

Was makin' every mile.

The harvest gates are swingin'.

Wonderful an' wide;

The home-bells are ringin'.

An' you stand at your side!

Exit—The Old Boys.

"Uncle John"—who is Dr. John J. Gaines, of Excelsior Springs, (Mo.), writes to the "Just From Georgia" column as follows:

"Here is an epic on 'The Woman in the Courthouse.' And he adds: 'I like it well enough to enclose it to you.'"

I ain't much hand to prophesy—nor place no foolish bets,—

I'm a trifle retro-active, sence the "drys" ker-flopped the "wets."

But—my dreambook speaks of tragedy—as solemn as the hills,

When we dream'p of hour-glasses, or of splashing water-mills,—

And, Im tryin' not to mind it,—to suppress the inward pang.

Whilse I forecast of the passin' of the Court House Gang!

When an honored institution fades to a legendary lore,

An' we watch it float off gradual, where it can't come back no more,

There's a slight depressin' feelin' that invades a feller's breast,

Like visitin' the henhouse—when there's nothin' in the nest—

It ain't that I'm a weaklin'—or inclined to feel a dang—

But—I'm bound to feel the passin' of the Court House Gang!

There was Lawyer Quick—an' Squire Hanks—an' Windy Jim McKown—

They'd allers run for office—though they done it, settin' down—

No matter if defeated,—they'd up an' run agin—

Though neither of 'em ever had a grand 'em as a joke—

But—they had the office spirit,—which inspired the whole shebang—

An' they all wuz charter members—of the Court House Gang!

With memories of the old spittoon—an' clouds of fragrant smoke,

I've tried to face conditions, an' regard 'em as a joke—

I miss the "clerk" an' "sherriff" an' the "deputy" ye know,—

An' all the other Courthouse boys, of that dear long ago—

It don't smell like it used to,—there's a different sort of whang—

That bespeaks eternal absence of the Court House Gang!

With the dawn of female suffrage—there's a different atmosphere

Pervades the grim old lobbies,—but I snoop I o'tn' kee—

WEATHER SAID TO BOLL WEEVIL

Weather conditions in this part of Georgia favor the boll weevil, according to C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local weevil bureau. The cool, cloudy weather with no rain will continue at least for the next few days, although it is impossible to forecast accurately just what character of weather will come in with September, or even mark the last few days of August. Mr. von Herrmann said Tuesday.

The cooks of the city, and especially their assistants, will claim that the summer has been, and is a record breaker for heat; but Mr. von Herrmann's records show that it has been one of the most moderate in years. In fact, there has been one day, August 11, that registered the lowest maximum temperature, 74 degrees, of any August day since 1917.

LASHING OF CONVICTS BARRED IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., August 22.—Prison officials of Alabama were today establishing an order issued last night by Governor Thomas E. Kilby to the effect that all forms of corporal punishment must stop immediately in county prisons and county camps. This followed an executive order issued a month ago stopping all forms of whipping in the state prisons and convicts flogged to mines.

Instead of the strap as a mode of punishment, the orders direct that warden of county camps impose solitary confinement and other restrictions upon unruly convicts.

Two Women Held In Mystery Death Of Howard Brown

Macon, Ga., August 22.—(Special.) Newly found evidence by sheriff's deputies today will be used in an effort to hold Mrs. Callie J. Walker and Miss Lottie Flowers in jail in connection with the death of Howard M. Brown last Saturday night.

Release of the two women was sought in habeas corpus proceedings today hearing on which has been set for 10 o'clock Wednesday morning before Ordinary Wiley.

Officers investigating the death of Brown, whose body was found on the Central of Georgia right-of-way early Sunday morning with his skull crushed, are satisfied that Brown, the two women and another man were the automobile riding Saturday night. The officers are also in possession of information that the members of the party were drinking.

The women are said to have told conflicting stories as to what is alleged to have happened when Brown left the automobile near the Second street bridge. One is alleged to have told the officers that Brown left the car for more liquor and that they drove away and left him.

Another story told by the woman testified that Brown left his boarding house stating that he was going to "break up" with his best girl. He is known to have been going with the Flowers woman for some time.

RUNOVER ARRANGED IN MISSISSIPPI MEET

Jackson, Miss., August 22.—At a meeting of the democratic state executive committee held here today, returns from the primary of August 15 were canvassed and a second primary for United States senator was ordered for September 5 to determine the race between Hubert D. Stephens and James K. Vanaman.

Nine counties failed to send in official returns and the committee accepted unofficial figures and declared the result as follows: Vanaman, 71,573; Stephens, 65,980; Kearney, 18,285. Plurality for Vanaman, 8,593.

The distinct feature of the meeting was the address of Miss Belle Kearney, the defeated candidate, who had requested the privilege of appearing before the committee.

"I want to see Mississippi redeemed from the slime, the mire, and the disgrace with which its political affairs are infested, and therefore, I am giving my support to Hubert D. Stephens," said Miss Kearney. She prefaced her remarks by stating that when she decided to enter the campaign she did not believe that a governor would be elected who would give her support, but the returns show that thousands of men rallied to her support.

Another notable feature of the meeting was the adoption of resolution declaring that a large number of socialists and republicans had been allowed to take part in the election on August 15, persons who had no legal or moral right to do so, and declaring that this participation by outsiders is "highly prejudicial to the interests of the democratic party and repulsive to the will of those honored party heroes who have borne the burdens of democracy since the days when the carpetbaggers came to Mississippi to plunder our people."

The committee re-elected its former president, barring from the election all persons who voted for the republicans or socialist candidates for president two years ago, and demanding that election officers everywhere see that this rule, which is found in the election laws of the state, be strictly enforced.

TRYING TO SAVE DOG COSTS YOUTH HIS LIFE

Portland, Ore., August 22.—Efforts to rescue from danger a pet dog cost the life of John Young, 18-year-old son of Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric company, of New York. The accident occurred at a construction camp on Hood river, where the young man was spending his vacation as a material checker.

Young was said to have been riding on the footboard on the front of a small yard locomotive when the mascot dog of the camp came frolicking across the tracks. The youth hopped down to the rescue. In some way Young was overtaken by the locomotive and he was rolled beneath the footboard and crushed back against the front axle.

Three Hurt in Wreck.

Detroit, Mich., August 22.—Two persons sustained injuries that caused their deaths and another was probably fatally injured this afternoon when the northbound Toledo-Detroit flyer on the Michigan Central railroad struck a motor truck loaded with turpentine and gasoline at the Dixie Highway crossing just outside the village of Rockwood, 23 miles south of here. Both locomotive and truck burst into flames immediately after the crash.

Sewage of Singapore is carried out of the city by 10,000 tukang kotors.

Both Walker and Hardwick Camps Certain of Success

"Desperate attempts of the Hardwick campaign leaders to turn the public mind from the real issues of the governor's race have failed and Clifford Walker will be elected governor by one of the biggest majorities ever polled up by a successful candidate in any state election," according to the midweek political statement, issued Tuesday night by Joe Gaston, manager of the Walker campaign.

The statement follows: "A desperate effort has been made to turn the attention of the people from the real issues of the campaign; the free school book issue; the broken promises of the governor; the sad financial plight of the state; its lost income and the losses sustained by the state through misappropriation of funds by officials not under bond, and this desperate effort has failed.

"Remember 'New Brown.' The attempt of the Hardwick forces to cause the public to forget what was said about the 'new brown' and has failed. The people will remember and will speak at the polls September 5.

The real joke of the campaign thus far has been the appeal to the governor of the state to support the governor on a law and order issue. It has been loudly proclaimed that 'law enforcement' is the issue. Every man in Georgia knows the clear position of Clifford Walker for law enforcement and of his life-long record in this respect.

"During the past week letters and messages have poured into the state headquarters showing that our estimate of Mr. Walker's strength has been correct and that he will make virtually a clean sweep of the state in the coming primary.

"Reports from State. 'Not only do these letters show this to be true, but in addition the same message is brought by the hordes of callers from all parts of Georgia who have visited headquarters. They assure us that they have been too concerned in making things in some of the sections and that Mr. Walker's victory will be overwhelming. Men who have traveled up and down the state for weeks have heard the messages and have brought the news to headquarters.

"According to the messages received and carefully checked we have learned that counties will be found in the Walker column this time which have never supported him before. We judge that this talk would not be so universal and general were the race for governor anything other than a one-sided affair in Mr. Walker's favor.

BIG SUNDAY MEETING FOR MORRIS BROWN

Concerning the Morris Brown university meeting to be held next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Auditorium, President J. H. Lewis of that institution makes an interesting statement indicating that the meeting will be one of unusual interest.

Cordially inviting the people of the community, white and the black alike, to attend the meeting, President Lewis says that special arrangements have been made for the large white attendance that is expected.

Continuing, he says: "A chorus of 500 voices will feature the meeting Sunday at 2:30 o'clock, at the Auditorium of the Greater Morris Brown university movement. They will sing spiritual songs, jubilation and melodies in negro's own native dialect. For more than 25 years, per cent of the students of Morris Brown were city students in the grades, helping the city of Atlanta to train the negro youth. The African Methodist church, which owns the school, has spent a quarter of a million dollars in building and equipping here an Atlanta, and more than double that amount in maintaining the school, but the cost of which has come from the negro.

Morris Brown has been a mighty factor in uplift work and in all educational, moral and health movements. The school has been a center of activity in the city of Atlanta. The cost of the operation of the school is more than $300,000 annually. The facilities for carrying forward this work are hampered for the lack of buildings, equipment and funds. For the next term the school has exceeded our ability to provide for them, a large part of which are from the city of Atlanta. Unless these boys and girls are provided for in some way, it will be the parents to leave the farm and move to the towns and cities to educate their children.

Morris Brown spends about $100,000 annually in Atlanta. Quite 600 boarding students are already here and equal to as many more to Atlanta and Georgia. The meeting Sunday is to arouse Atlanta to the fact that Morris Brown is a Georgia institution, founded in 1887, by such men as Bishop W. J. Candler, Bishop H. M. Turner, Bishop J. P. Philips and other ministers and laymen for the training of ministers and laymen for the African Methodist Episcopal church. It is a school of the rural Georgia, its children were born, reared and educated here and know better how to train the young of the south in its ideals and customs. All Atlanta is asked to raise at once $25,000 to show the trustees in position to promote the greater Morris Brown university in its campaign for grounds, buildings and equipment.

Vessel Unequipped With Electric Fans, Entire Crew Strikes

New Orleans, August 22.—The "strike" of the crew of the British steamer Mexican Lady, which came into the port of Beaumont, Texas, late yesterday morning, only by Captain Griffith and his three officers, was caused by the lack of electric fans aboard the vessel, according to Neal M. Leach, manager of the J. H. W. Steele company, agents for the vessel.

The Mexican Lady, laden with a general cargo, including coal, cleared from New Orleans last Saturday en route to Vera Cruz. According to Mr. Leach, the crew of the steamer is composed of novice navigators from London who were unaccustomed to the brilliancy of the sun in the tropical latitudes, and as the temperature increased so did their discontent.

"So they quit work somewhere off Beaumont and the captain and his officers had to take the ship in," Mr. Leach explained, adding that "everything is all right now. We have equipped the ship with electric fans and the crew is willing to work." It is understood here that no charges will be lodged against the strikers.

Contract Held Up

Macon, Ga., August 22.—(Special.) The contract for the erection of the new $100,000 home for the Vineville Methodist church at Vineville and Fifth avenues, which was to have been awarded today, was held up until next Monday to await the arrival of the architect. A number of favorable bids are said to be in hand. The new church will be the most modern in Macon.

GARY WRECK BLAMED ON FAULTY EQUIPMENT

Chicago, August 22.—Declaring the "real cause" of the Michigan City wreck at Gary Sunday was clearly an "unfit locomotive" and characterizing the railroad's charges that the state was to be held responsible for the wreck, the state legislature today placed the blame for the loss of life upon the striking shopmen instead of on the railroad "where it belongs," J. E. McGrath, vice president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, today said the wreck was declared a "narrow escape from wrecks reported each day from various parts of the country."

"Reports are based upon an investigation by company officials and armed guards," he said. "If all the derailments which have been reported to us since the strike, had occurred at 60 miles an hour, the newspapers would have had no room for other news. Such wrecks result directly from the deterioration of equipment. It is only when the wreck is serious enough to get into the papers that the real cause is covered over."

McGrath's statement came on the heels of the verdict of the coroner's jury which found that the engineer and fireman of the wrecked express came to their death as a result of a plot to wreck the train.

STEWARDS PLAN COMMON ENGLISH WORDS FOR MENUS

St. Louis, August 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Guests of hotels and restaurants of the United States will no longer be obliged to adjust their tongues to the unusual French menu terms in order to be high toned, but can use the common English terms without violating any rules of the International Stewards' association, which was opened here today.

"No longer will guests be compelled to call for the 'menu' and ask the 'carcon' to serve him 'beef au jus,'" said one of the 300 delegates registered for the convention, "or to bring him 'cave noiren demi tasse' but can simply say 'waiter, please bring me some beef and gravy and black coffee in a small cup' without giving rise to the suggestion that he is not well versed in good manners and rules of society."

HUGHES AGAIN RAPPEL ON NEWBERRY STAND

Bluffton, Ind., August 22.—W. H. Eichorn, of Bluffton, an assistant to Frank C. Diller, in the prosecution of Senator Newberry, of Michigan, in a statement declared today that "it is to be regretted that exigencies of politics make it necessary for an eminent member of the cabinet to attempt to condone the act by which Senator Newberry procured his nomination and election to the United States senate from Michigan."

The statement was given in reply to one issued by Secretary of State Hughes and given out by the republican national committee Sunday.

"Whatever may be said about the criminal culpability of Mr. Newberry," said Mr. Eichorn, "the fact remains that his organization spent over $200,000 to procure for him the privilege of serving the people of his state in an office which pays a total salary of $45,000 for the entire term. This, too, in the face of a statute which limited the amount he could legally spend in getting the office to $3,750."

Possible life of the Globe, Miami district, from which copper is mined, is at least 15 years, say experts.

Swift and Company Ordered to Release Stock at Moultrie

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel, Washington, August 22.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—The federal trade commission today issued an order against Swift & Co., Chicago meat packers, requiring it to divest itself of all the capital stock and the fruits of acquisitions thereof of the Moultrie Packing company, of Moultrie, Ga., and the Andalusia Packing company, of Andalusia, Ala.

The commission found, upon inquiry that Swift & Co., in 1917 acquired by purchase practically the entire then-outstanding capital stock of the Moultrie and Andalusia concerns, which resulted in a substantial lessening of competition between the two companies whose stock had been so acquired. This the commission concluded to be a violation of that part of the Clayton act which reads as follows:

"That no corporation engaged in commerce shall acquire, directly or indirectly, the whole or any part of the stock or share capital of another corporation engaged also in commerce, where the effect of such acquisition will be to substantially lessen competition between the corporation making the acquisition, or to restrain such commerce in any section or territory, or to create a monopoly in any line of commerce."

The respondent is also required to cease from further suppressing competition in trade heretofore existing between the Moultrie Packing company and the Andalusia Packing company, and from further "holding, controlling or operating in any manner whatsoever the plans and business of these two concerns."

Former Dry Agent Is Found Guilty of Manslaughter

Birmingham, Ala., August 22.—Thomas C. Dewes, former federal prohibition officer, was found guilty of first degree manslaughter and sentenced to three years by a jury in federal court tonight, in connection with the death of Curtis Timmore, a Blount county farmer last September. The jury was out one hour.

Timmore was alleged to have been shot while bringing a load of vegetables into Birmingham by a party of federal officers who were searching the wagon for liquor.

The case was prosecuted under the direction of State Solicitor Joseph Tate, and the defendant was represented by Federal District Attorney C. B. Kennermer. The defense announced a motion would be made for a new trial.

Eugene Eubanks, former federal officer, who was with the party of officers at the time of the alleged shooting, was acquitted in federal court several months ago. William Dewes, former federal officer and J. B. Thompson, former member of the Birmingham police department, are under indictment for second degree murder in connection with the case.

PLAN GREAT PETITION FOR WINES AND BEER

New Orleans, August 22.—A Louisiana department of the Sanitary League of America, a national organization whose avowed purpose is the modification of the Volstead law, has just been formed with headquarters in New Orleans. An active campaign to secure memberships in the form of signatures to a petition which will be placed before congress was started today.

The national headquarters of the organization are in San Francisco. The avowed aim of the league is to muster anti-prohibition forces in every state of the union to sign a monster petition which will be presented to congress to permit the sale of light wines and beer. The organization does not sponsor or desire the return of the saloons, it was said.

Several prominent business men, including Mayor Martin Behrman and Crawford H. Ellis, vice president of the United Fruit company, are members of the advisory board of the national organization.

1 Out of Every 100 People In All The World Carried by The L & N in 1921

Estimating the world's population at something over one billion souls, the astonishing figures given below show that during the year of 1921 the Louisville & Nashville Railroad transported one out of every one hundred people in the world—an average distance of forty eight and eight-tenths miles.

Think what this means to the health, the wealth and the happiness of L. & N. served territory—14,054,496 passengers employed its services as a carrier—a number greater than the entire population of America's eight largest cities—or of the entire population of the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia.

Under normal conditions, or times of disturbing operating problems, the people of the South have come to appreciate the fact that they can depend on the

The Constitution's Novel-a-Week

The Hills of Han

BY SAMUEL MERWIN

Next Week, "The Beloved Traitor"
By Frank L. Packard

Mr. Po proved to be possessed of a very modern acquaintance with English and with political affairs in Han-shi. He Bracey led him on. He described the contest between Treasurer Kang, the representative of the Old Order and 'Pao the Provincial Justice, Kang, he implied, stood for a "China for the Chinese" policy. But, he said:

"Pao is cat, Kang is mouse."
Po then said he wanted to go to America and become a Lyceum speaker. He gave Bracey, for criticism, a copy of his proposed lecture.

At 10 o'clock that night John tapped at Bracey's door.
"Man wanchie see you. Can do?"
"China man?"
"No China man. White man. I do."

Bracey sprang up; brushed John under the nose and opened the door. A man was approaching; a huge figure of a man, six feet five or six inches in height, broad of shoulder, firm of tread; stood now before him.

"Mr. Bracey? The voice had the ring of power in it."
"Yes."
"I am Mr. Doane."

"Will you please come in?"
John slipped away. Doane entered. "I have very little time to waste on you," he said brusquely. "What are you doing in Tainan? Why did you come here?"

"While it is not the whole truth, it will probably save time to say that I came to see your daughter," Bracey said.

He would have liked to express in his voice something of the desperate tenderness that he felt with the words came out coldly, tinged with defiance, between set lips.

It might easily mean a fight of some sort, Bracey reflected. This mountain of a man could crush him, of course.

Doane took a step forward.
"Why don't I kill you?" he breathed. "It was then that Bracey first caught the full force of Doane's emotional torment. But all that Doane saw was a slight hesitation before the cold reply came:

"I can not answer that question."
"You can answer another: Have you harmed my little girl?"

Bracey trembled. He could have tossed a coin to his life. His voice was unsteady as he replied:
"Not in the sense you mean."

"In what sense, then?"
"Simply this: Bracey's head dropped on his hand. "I love her. I have roused deep feelings in her. Perhaps in doing that I have harmed her. I can't say."

"Is that all? You are telling me everything?"
Doane walked across the room; came back; looked at his watch; then he said:

"I have no more words from you," he suddenly cried out. "You'll go in the morning. I'll have to talk with you, but you won't communicate with Betty."

"But, my God, I can't just leave myself."
"I have no time for heroics," said Doane. "Have I your promise that you will leave in the morning, without a word to her?"

"Yes."
"I am going to Hung Chan. There are more important issues now than your life or mine. I shall be back tomorrow night and I shall know if you have failed to keep your word."

"I shan't fail."
"Good Night," said Doane.
Doane turned to the door. But then he hesitated, turned, hesitated again, finally came straight over and thrust out his hand.

Bracey, to his own amazement, took it.
When Doane had gone Bracey called John and ordered a male letter for eight in the morning.

At eight the spike-studded gates swung open and his Oriental cavalier filed into the court. Bracey had just mounted his favorite little pony, when a soldier handed him a letter.

With bounding pulse he looked at the envelope, but the address, "Master J. Bracey, Esquire," was not in Betty's bristly little hand.

He tore it open, and read as follows:
"Mr. Dear Sir—Taking time to touch and go by the forelock it becomes privileged duty to advise you to wit: 'Looker soldier, acting under thumb Kang plan within twenty-four hours advance on Tainan-fu, jolly well taking their time to do mission here and secondary Christians."

Brushes—Where They Come From, What They Can Do

(From The Designer.)

There are two large classes of brushes, those with backs, and those without.

These come in bristle, in hair and in fiber. It is fiber and bristles that are of special interest in discussing household needs.

The backless brush has the advantage of being usable in any position and thereby being at least twice as long-lived as the brush whose only working surface is one side. These brushes are marvelously made and the bristles, hair, fiber or fabric (most are so fastened in as to make a fine bristle almost an impossibility).

These brushes come in every department of house life: Toilet, bath, pantry, laundry, clothes, kitchen, hair and walls. The Russian pony gives the best horse-hair, and the wild boar gives the most and best bristles. The best for the bristle is that it will not break if bent back and will spring into place again.

The hair and bristle when burned give a characteristic hair odor.

The fiber brush, though a cheaper brush, is adapted to things for which the bristle brush is not adapted. The fiber makes a good scrubbing brush, but the bristle would not be stiff enough. Many fibers are made to look like bristle, but the bristle test will save you from a rash purchase.

The bristle brush is expensive and so is the brush of camel or badger hair from which painting and shaving brushes are made.

The brush market is panoramic and includes China, Russia, the palm-growing belts, France and Belgium. The bristle from the United States is short and not so strong as the foreign bristle because we kill the hog too soon for lard.

Fifty years ago the principal means of transportation in the Mississippi Valley was river navigation.

Radio factories in Chicago are running three shifts every 24 hours to supply the demand in that country.

Complimentary Recital And Al Fresco Luncheon

A complimentary recital will be given by the Laurel Falls camp girls at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium on Wednesday evening, August 23, at 8 o'clock. All friends and relatives of the campers are invited to the recital and all Atlanta girls who spent only the early part of the summer at the camp are invited to assist the official ushers, Miss Florence Boykin, Miss Ada Peeples, Miss Margaret Gresham, and Miss Ada Springer.

Mrs. B. M. Boykin, associate director of Laurel Falls camp, will entertain the campers at luncheon at an al fresco on Wednesday at the Atlanta Woman's Club at 1 o'clock, after which the girls will rehearse for their play "The Legend of Nacoochee" and the diversions which will precede the play.

The entire personnel of Laurel Falls camp will arrive in Atlanta on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock and will be met at the train with a procession of automobiles tendered by the parents of the Atlanta girls who have been at Laurel Falls during the summer. The party will proceed to the Georgian Terrace to remain together until Thursday, on which date the camp will formally disband, Atlanta girls returning to their residences and girls from other places returning to their home towns.

Rev. C. W. Smith, of Clayton, is director of the camp, and Mrs. Smith is camp mother. Miss Susan Leonard, a graduate of Columbia University, is director of camp activities, and is assisted by Miss Mary Ringhurst, physical director, and a large corps of teachers. Counselors of the camp from Atlanta are Misses Beatrice Hamlet, Mildred Davis, Anna Harwell, and Louise Davis. The campers write in their very own "Laurel Leaf" which they publish semi-monthly.

Non-Resident Members Boost Woman's Club

"I am delighted to learn that I may join the Atlanta Woman's Club without having to come to Atlanta to reside," said Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of McDonough recently. "I had thought I would have to move to Atlanta to belong, and I want to keep on living in McDonough."

Such statements from out-of-town club women are proving most encouraging to the membership campaign committee of the Atlanta Woman's Club, which met yesterday.

Mrs. Theodore Addison Burnett, vice president of the Columbia, Ohio, Woman's Club, stated at this meeting: "I read every word printed in the papers about the Woman's Club first thing. The club news is the most interesting thing in Atlanta. I came here on a visit but since reading of your wonderful achievements and varied interests I want my husband to settle here."

"To the woman newly come to Atlanta to reside the Atlanta Woman's Club provides the means of quick identification with community life," stated Mrs. B. M. Boykin to the enthusiastic women present. "If she is unacquainted with any individual member of the club, she may apply to the club president, or to Mrs. W. D. Williamson, chairman of membership, care of the Woman's Club, Peachtree street, and accompany her inquiry with references to the pastor of the church to which she formerly belonged or the president of the Woman's Club or the missionary society in the place of her former residence. These applications will receive prompt attention and careful inquiry and the applicant having qualified she will be received into the club with friendliness and a welcome that will go far toward increasing the reputation of our city for hospitality."

Visitors to the city for brief periods may obtain a season guest card for a small sum when properly introduced, and non-residence is no disqualification for members, as was proven last week when five out-of-town club women joined at one time.

"The democracy of our club is its greatest asset," Mrs. Norman Sharp declared when instructing the committee in campaign methods. "We have members from every section and nearly every street in Atlanta and some of our most valued members live in surrounding counties. We touch nearly every phase of community life in our club activities and we vie with the churches in our charities. We may be social or philanthropic, or educational within the limits of our club." Mrs. Courtland Winn presented ten applications at this meeting. Mrs. Wilmer Moore and Mrs. Sharp are co-chairmen of the membership campaign.

WOMAN'S COMPLEX LIFE

Woman's complex life with its multitudinous calls is given as the reason for many a nervous breakdown. Home work, social obligations, dressmaking and the care of children keep the 20th century woman in a whirlwind of activity until headaches develop, backache, nervousness and oftentimes more serious ills which are peculiar to her sex alone. Such women should not despair, but be guided by the letters so often published in this paper from women who have been in just such conditions, but who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This is a root and herb medicine that contains no drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman. (adv.)

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Entertain Ten Club

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Davis entertained the members of the Ten club Tuesday evening at their summer home on Chattahoochee river.

William W. Orr read a paper on "Perceval," the fifth in a series of studies on Robert Browning, English poet.

Members of the club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, 700 West Peachtree street, at 4:30 o'clock and motored to Hill rest, where an al fresco dinner was served.

The officers of the Ten club are M. L. Brittain, czar; Frederic J. Faxon, scribe; Mel H. Wilkinson, executive secretary. The other members are Judge Marcus Beck, Walter G. Cooper, Samuel D. Jones, William W. Orr, Dr. Henry Alford Porter, Judge Arthur G. Powell, Dr. John P. Purser, Judge Samuel H. Sibley and Hoch M. Willet.

The Ten club devotes its activities to literary research, and has furnished exceptionally fine papers on its programs.

Miss Read Is Honor Guest.

Miss Margaret Read, who has recently arrived in Atlanta from Denver, Colo., and will make her home in this city, was honor guest at the informal bridge-ten given Tuesday afternoon by Miss Mark Orme, at her home on Fairview road in Druid Hills.

Invited to meet Miss Read were Miss Martha Lewis, Miss Estelle Boynton, Miss Frances Arnold, Miss Virginia Robinson, of Athens, Ala.; Miss Henrietta Mikell, Miss Elizabeth Phillips and Miss Jane Small.

The prizes for top cards and consolation were vanity cases, while the honor guest was presented with hand-made handkerchiefs.

Miss Orme wore a sport model in white silk.

Miss Read was gown in delft blue combined with white crepe de chine and her hat matched her gown.

Games were enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

Scrip Dance Will Be Given at Roseland.

An event of this evening will be a scrip dance at Roseland, Peachtree and Cain streets, for the younger dancing set under the auspices of the Domino orchestra.

Dancing will be from 9 to 12 o'clock and members of the various dancing clubs of the city are cordially invited.

The Old Carriage Maker Had an Important Truth

"To make each part as strong as the rest," was his way of "building a wonderful, one-horse chaise that wouldn't wear out till judgment day."

This illustrates a fact that is keeping many doctors busy these days—human bodies, like chaises, break down because some part isn't as strong as the others.

Very often it's because of ill-balanced food, lacking in some important element of nutrition. This is especially true of ills developed in childhood, and carried on through life.

Grape-Nuts, that world-famous, ready-to-eat cereal, brings the plan of building each part as strong as the rest—to serve human need. Grape-Nuts contains all the nutrient of those best of the field grains, wheat and barley, including the vital mineral elements, and it is a wonderful food for building and sustaining health and strength.

The delicious flavor and crispness of Grape-Nuts make it a welcome dish whenever you're hungry.

Miss Boynton Is Hostess at Party For Miss Brandon

Miss Martha Boynton was hostess at an informal bridge-ten Tuesday afternoon at her home on Peachtree road, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Brandon, of Richmond, Va., who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brandon, and for Miss Elizabeth Bright, of St. Louis, Mo., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hunt.

Silver vases of lovely garden flowers formed the decorations. A Madeira lace cover overlaid the tea table in the center of which were pink and white roses in a silver vase, encircled by pink and white unshaded tapers in silver candlesticks. Composites of bonbons were placed at intervals.

The honor guests received dainty hand-made handkerchiefs. The top score and consolation prizes were French toilet articles.

Mrs. George Boynton assisted her daughter in receiving.

Miss Boynton was charming in white lace costume.

Miss Brandon wore black lace and a hat to match.

Miss Bright was gown in tan. The top score was won by Miss Brandon. The guests included twelve friends of the hostess.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHICH IS YOUR HOUSE?

A mother with two children came calling on me the other day. When the mother got up to leave the two children hung back saying, "Oh, let's not go yet." And when I heard them I felt as if I had been awarded a prize that I had been working for.

For I've always hoped my house would be that kind of a house.

Do You Remember?

Don't you remember, when you were a child, all grown-up houses were divided in your mind into two kinds: the kind you hated to have mother take you to, and the kind where you liked to go with her?

And it wasn't big things that set the dividing line either. Just little things—small cordialities on the part of the grown-ups, small attentions, the ability to say something in recognition of your presence, besides remarking on the astonishing fact that you had grown in the year, asking if you liked school (fancy anyone so far from getting his childhood as to ask that!) and discussing with your mother as to whether it was the lower part of your face that made you look like Uncle John, or your eyes.

The House of the Much Ladies.

One of the houses to which I always used to love to go was the home of some elderly ladies who were connected to the family by some link of third or fourth cousinship. There were three of them living together and my sister gravely christened it "The House of the Much Ladies." We loved to be taken there, partly because they had a whatnot on which were several rare treasures that laid hold of our childish imaginations. One was a conch shell in which, if you laid it to your ear, you could hear the roaring of waves. Always when I listened to those waves, I saw in my mind a picture of a tropic shore with palm trees on it where I was going to go some day. (I was right about that!) Then there was one of those old paper weights with a miniature village inside and a snowstorm ready to descend if you shook it. Also some quaint china figures of a shepherd and shepherdess; also a little box made of silver and ivory and ebony and sandalwood, brought home by a far-off uncle of the old ladies.

Cookies Versus Conch Shells.

We had a real aunt at whose home we always were given cookies, but I did not like it half so well as the "House of the Much Ladies." There is an idea that the way to a child's heart is through his stomach. I think there is quite as sure a road through his imagination.

Of course most of us Moderns do not have whatnots with conch shells and shepherdesses, but it is very simple to keep a few toys, a few books, a few treasures about that will make your home a pleasant memory to the child who comes there, and at the same time (to play up a selfish motive) keep him out of mischief.

One woman I know always saves the children's pages of the Sunday papers and brings them out for visiting children. Not so poetic as the conch shell and the sandalwood box but quite effective just the same.

More Miller Nuptials Planned, But Divorce Must Come First

MISS CLAIRE MILLER.

Los Angeles, August 22.—The wedding bells for Miss Claire Miller, now Mrs. Jack Pickford, have scarcely died away and the newlyweds have just about had time to take stock of the publicity derived through the medium of their highly advertised trip to the altar.

Now the Miller family, made famous by Marjann's twinkling toes, is due for more publicity.

Maybe it runs in the family but anyway the latest reports have it that Claire Miller, Marjann's younger and red-headed sister, is about to jump into the matrimonial harness for the second time.

However, there are one or two minor formalities that must be complied with before her marriage to W. Robert Montgomery, of Boston, can take place.

In the first place she must get a divorce from husband No. 1 from whom she has been separated for nearly a year. It is said that her plans call for starting an action in Chicago on her way east.

Montgomery, according to reports, is an elderly banker, considerably younger in ideas than in years, whom Claire met while sojourning in Boston as an understudy to her more illustrious sister, starting in Sally.

One child by her first marriage is now with the husband she plans to divorce, say reports.

Miss Claire has been basking in the limelight considerably of late thanks to her more famous sister, but with the prospects of a divorce coming and a wedding to follow that Claire bids fair to outplay her sister in the headlines of the daily prints.

HOW TO SAVE WHEN SHOPPING

By Ruth Leigh

Author of "The Human Side of Retail Selling," "The A B C of Retailing," Etc.

Unimportant though they may seem, there are some essential uses for pins which make it desirable to know good pins, you know, are brass; the best steel. Here are some ways you can distinguish brass pins from those of iron and steel.

Use a magnet. It will attract iron and steel, but never brass. Drop the pins into water. A brass pin will not rust, but those of iron and steel will. Try to scratch off the plating of the pin. A brass pin will appear brass; and gold-like, while an iron pin scratched in this way will simply look silvery.

Here are ways to distinguish steel pins from those of iron. You will find steel pins are more slender and stiffer, and have better finish and a sharper point than iron ones. Then, too, you will find that steel pins are invariably so marked on the paper or the package. The price, too, will guide you, as steel pins are generally imported and cost about five times as much as iron ones.

If you do much sewing, and pins are an important part of your working equipment, it will pay you to buy good ones.

Parties Honor

Mrs. Krisher.

Mrs. John Warren will entertain on Friday afternoon in compliment to her two daughters, Mrs. Willard Krisher, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Earl Clayton.

Today Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. Krisher will motor to Marietta for a spend-the-day party in their honor.

Miss Dell Bradley

Weils Mr. Haynes.

The marriage of Miss Dell Bradley and Clarence Haynes was solemnized Saturday afternoon at the home of the Rev. Robert H. Lamkin in Angier avenue.

A number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Haynes will be at home for the present with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bradley, in Kirkwood avenue.

Mrs. Stanton Gives

Informal Dinner.

Miss Margaret Mitchell and Berrian Upshaw, whose marriage will be an interesting event of Saturday, September 2, were honor guests at the informal dinner given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Frank L. Stanton.

The guests included the members of the Mitchell-Upshaw bridal party and a few other friends.

The house was decorated in various-colored tinnias and the table in the dining room had for the central decoration a silver basket filled with tinnias and dahlias.

Covers were laid for Miss Mitchell, Miss Augusta Dearborn, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Letha Turman, Miss Louise Chappell, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kelly, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Percy McGohee, William McLaren, of Jacksonville; Charles Balleau, Val Stanton and Frank Stanton, Jr.

Guinea Hen Fans, Tiny and Folding. Usurp the Place of the Spreading Ostrich Feather Once and Suggest a Wide Revival of the Ornamental Small Fan.

Paris.—No, it was not lorgnettes. Of that we are certain. But just exactly what was it? That was the question we asked each other at the theater. It swung from a chain about her neck and had a long tortoise shell handle. We watched. Finally she opened it, turned the two sticks around a circle, clamped them together at one end, and began to fan herself. So that was it. A tiny folding fan taken from the pages of Godey's Magazine. The feathers were speckled like a Guinea hen, and they really came from that expensive fowl. There were four bursts of them, thick clusters that lapped each other so they could fold the more easily.

One of the women grew reminiscent when she saw the fan. It reminded her of old days when women did not seem to use a turkey tail fan, well mounted, at the balls in the southern states.

There was once a gallant of South Carolina, she said, who presented the winning debutante of the season with such an ornament, and continued the custom over so many years that each girl looked upon it as a coveted ribbon, an Order of Success.

It will be amusing to see these chicken fans come back into fashion. They are such a contrast to the gorgeousness of what we have worn in the air. And as our shrewd American buyers have their eyes upon them, the thing is possible.

The ostrich of the guinea hen fan wore a necklace and earrings that excited our interest also. They were made up of pale amethysts, like mauve crystals of what we have worn here tries to outdo the other in her collection of long barbaric ear ornaments and crystal necklaces, and this woman was quite happy in her immense bands strung on the shoulders. One of the mannequins at an important house also wore such a set, proving to us that the fashion was really established.

None of these heads are opaque with the exception of jade, which, after all, is translucent. They are of carved or plain crystal, as clear as water, and strung on thick silk cord. The fashion was started with the carved white crystal from Japan, clear as spring water.

mushrooms and season with the salt and pepper. Put the cover on the chafing dish and cook for eight minutes. Add the stock; stir until it is smooth. Pour in the stock, and when heated stir in quickly the yolks of the eggs. Serve at once.

Mushrooms in the Chafing Dish. One cup of stock, one-half pound of fresh mushrooms, two tablespoons of flour, a few drops of lemon juice, three tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of grated cheese, toast, salt and paprika to taste.

Wash the mushrooms, peel the caps and cut in large pieces. Season with salt and pepper and dredge lightly with one tablespoon of flour. Melt two tablespoons of butter in the chafing dish, add the mushrooms and cook four minutes. Remove to a hot dish. Make a brown sauce by melting the remaining tablespoon of butter. Add the remaining tablespoonful of flour and brown. Add the stock; stir until the sauce thickens. Return the mushrooms, to each quart of mushrooms, they are re-heated. Sprinkle with cheese; season with lemon juice and serve.

Pickled Mushrooms. Sufficient vinegar to cover the mushrooms to each quart of mushrooms, two blades pounded mace, one ounce ground pepper; salt to taste. Choose young button mushrooms for pickling, peel, and cut off stalks; if very large, cut the top off, and reject the black ones, as they are too old. Put them in a steppan, sprinkle salt over them, with pounded mace and pepper in the above proportion; shake them well over a clear fire until the liquor flows, and keep them there until it is all dried up again; then add as much vinegar as will cover them, just let it simmer for one minute, and store it away in stone jars for use. When cold, tie down with bladder, and keep in a dry place; they will remain good for a length of time, and are generally considered delicious.

The Constitution Patterns

4041. Silk or tissue gingham with orandy for collar and cuffs would be nice for this style. The peplum may be omitted. The blouse is in "hip on" style, and may be finished with the sleeves in wrist or elbow length. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes; 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 2 3/4 yards of 32-inch material. Collar and cuffs of contrasting material require 3/4 yard of 40 inches wide.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and include price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letters to The Constitution building in Atlanta, but address as follows: Fashion Department, The Atlanta Constitution, 1188-9 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD
SUGGESTIONS

Preserving Time.
Use an asbestos mat when cooking preserves on the gas stove. Then you are insured against scorching or sticking.

Apartment Cooking.
It is difficult to keep the odor of cooking in an apartment confined to the kitchen. Just before you serve dinner, drop a few drops of lavender into a decorative bowl containing boiling water and set it in an inconspicuous place in the dining room. The air will be fresh and sweet for the diners.

Decorate the Fish.
Sprinkle some of the larger kind of kindergarten beads among the pebbles in the bowl for the goldfish and see how attractive they make it.

At Teatime.
Rub the cube sugar over a hot orange until it absorbs some of the juice and use this sugar when you serve tea later in the day. It will impart a delicious flavor.

Glass Oven Door.
When the glass oven door becomes blackened and you are unable to see the food in the oven, use baking soda as you would a soap powder and the door will become bright and clean.

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna K. Forbes

SHAPING THE EYEBROWS

The shapely defined eyebrow is no longer in fashion. I refer to the artificially made line that required shaving, or many tweezers pluckings. This should be a relief to the girls who have passed through that tedious experience.

While the extreme fashion for the severely fine line has gone, the eyebrow is still to be as symmetrical as formerly. This symmetry is not an impossible achievement for those with brows in which many hairs are out of alignment. The first thing is to trim the hairs so they will fall into an arched line, after which it will only be a matter of a few strokes with the brush—and running of finger tips over the brows—to keep them in place. A small brush can be purchased at any drug store, or a stiff tooth brush will answer.

Begin by brushing all hair that grows under the line of the brow and make the strokes both upward and outward. Conversely, brush all the hair that grows above the line, making the strokes downward and outward. A little practice will be needed as these strokes are intended to make all hair, from below and above, overlap in the center; after which it is only necessary to run the fingers over the line to shape it into a becoming curve.

If the hairs will not stay in place, moisten them at first with some thin moulage water. If there are still any hairs that break the symmetry of line, they will have to be taken out with the tweezers or clipped off; but this should not be attempted unless they disfigure. The idea now is merely a becoming and neatly arranged brow, not the sharply defined one of the past.

Auburn.—As it is easier to prevent freckles than to cure them, the best advice I can give is to rub the skin full of cold cream and use quite a little powder before each trip on the water.

Discouraged.—Biting the nails is a nervous habit which can only be overcome by exerting your will power. You might try rubbing alum on them as a reminder, since you will get the bitter taste whenever you begin to bite. And keeping the nails manicured until the bad habit is broken is a great help.

D. W. M.—If the skin on your face peels, your complexion is too dry and you require a cold cream. One made from almond oil would be best.

At Souther Field—
And Like Sensation

Americus, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—The youngest ever to ride in a government airplane is little Jane Wyatt. She is two and one-half years old, and John A. Wyatt, adjutant of Souther field, is her father. The father piloted the plane in which she soared above the field, accompanied by her aunt, Miss Sue Powell, of Hampton, Va. Twice the plane circled the field.

Souther field is making new records. Jane, it is said, is the youngest person ever to make a flight in a plane anywhere. Mrs. Frances A. Fox, aged 83, was here recently, and made a flight at the field. Mrs. Fox traveled as a passenger. It is asserted she is the oldest person to ride in a government plane in Georgia.

POLITICAL CONTEST
WARM IN COLQUITT

Moultrie, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—With 13 candidates contesting for the five places on the board of commissioners, and with five out for the two places in the legislature from Colquitt, this county is having one of the most lively political campaigns experienced in a number of years. The principal issues involved are the road question and the county police. Four of the five present members of the board are asking reelection. There are more than 4,500 qualified voters in the county, Colquitt having the largest registration list of any county in the second congressional district.

Only 500 women qualified to vote and in some districts not one registered.

CLOSING OF GARAGES
DRAWS COMPLAINTS

Thomasville, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—The closing of all automobile garages here on Sunday is causing much complaint, by parties coming through who have neglected to fill up their tanks with a supply of gas before starting. Most Thomasville automobiles try to remember to fill up Saturday nights, but sometimes they, too, forget and are forced to linger around town all day Sunday, instead of taking their usual rides around the country. There is some talk of parties opening a filling station just outside of the city limits, to accommodate the traveling public.

Hog Sale Held.

Warrenton, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—The first co-operative hog sale ever held in Warrenton was staged today. One car of hogs was sold to C. A. Wheeler, local cattle buyer, whose bid was $9.01. Bidders were here from Atlanta, Macon and Columbus, S. C. D. H. Upshaw, special county agent, developed the sale, the Georgia railroad built pens, and M. C. Gay, of the state college, graded the hogs.

AT WOMAN'S WINDOW

BY W. L. GEORGE

It used to be considered an awful thing that woman should dye her hair. It was such a dreadful thing that the ingenious sellers of dyes devised all sorts of interesting words, such as "refreshing" the hair, or "restoring" it, or even "washing" it, so that the daughter of the older homes could deny that her hair was dyed; she could say that she brought out its natural color. Personally I have no feeling against dyed hair any more than against a cold creamed face; society allows so many artifices in the clothes that I see nothing immoral in a touch of henna or of peroxide. If a woman is going prematurely grey, it is quite legitimate for her to prevent a grayness which does not befit her years. If she is not entitled to try and look forty when she is sixty, she is quite entitled not to look fifty when she is twenty-five.

Gray hair to me is an abomination; white hair is charming, but gray hair, that twilight of the tresses, is a stage that no woman should subject herself to unless she chooses. Only, and that is a big only, dye contains dangers as well as advantages. If a woman decides to renovate her hair (renovate! even I fall into this), the one pitfall she must avoid is the selection of an entirely new color. Some women get tired of their hair, and after being black try auburn; the results are invariably fatal, because dyed as they may be of their faces they can't change those much. Nature having fitted the hair to the features; it is obvious that the only thing a woman may do is to cause her hair to remain what it is instead of making it into what it was not. Thus she may pass unnoticed except as an exponent of enduring youth.

Poultry Meeting Called.

Monticello, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ida M. Phillips, home demonstration agent for Jasper county, called a meeting of the poultry men a few weeks ago. On account of rain the crowd was not large. Another meeting will be called some time soon to organize the poultry people of the county.

The purpose of the association will be to increase interest in poultry raising on the farms of the county, and to create more co-operation in selling chickens and eggs.

Rugs and Draperies to Make a House
a Home

Just as the life of your garden is in the shrubs and flowers and trees and hedges that give it fragrance and shade and color, so is the life of your rooms in the rugs and draperies that give them color and beauty and charm.

A lifeless house becomes a home, a living entity, when its rugs and draperies have been carefully selected.

In our plans we have not forgotten the simple cottage. No house is too humble to be made into a home. Sometimes it is even more difficult to make a home of a magnificent residence.

We believe that our plans have anticipated every need. Our drapery materials have been selected to harmonize with our rugs.

From the loveliest Oriental rug in our large collection, to the most utilitarian grass rug, there is the according window treatment that will make your room a satisfaction and a delight.

LOCALS SIGN THIRD SACKER

Pat Monahan, the St. Louis Browns' scout; Cy Barber, Atlanta's own traveling representative; and Bill Jackson Spiller's pocketbook, combined efforts in bringing about the purchase of Third Sacker, a Kitty League star, who is on his way to join the locals. Reed was playing with the Fulton, Ky., club and is rated as the best hot corner pastime in the circuit. The price paid was $3,500, and is the second expensive bush to find a place on Spiller's roster, Eddie Moore having been bought some weeks ago from St. Petersburg (Florida League) for $7,500.

Barger, stumbling through the Kitty League about two months ago, was impressed by Reed's playing and made the proper recommendations to his Atlanta employer. Negotiations were started then, but someone informed the Fulton management that Spiller would be willing to outbid the majors and too stiff a price was set.

Barger then reluctantly set about finding an infielder in other quarters, but President Spiller was determined that Reed would best fill the bill. Hearing that Pat Monahan was digging for material in the Kitty League, Spiller asked him to look the lad over and to inform the Fulton officials that he was not in full control of the national main.

Price Comes Down. Monahan must have used some nice arguments, for yesterday Spiller was advised that $3,500 would complete the deal. Monahan volunteered the information, too, that the Atlanta franchise would make no mistake in purchasing Reed, and the sale was quickly consummated.

President Spiller knows little personally about Reed. Doesn't even know his first name. Nor is he acquainted with the stick average Reed has compiled in the Kitty League, but Spiller believes that Barger and Monahan know ball playing material when they see it, and Reed certainly is among some gild-grade references.

He is expected to report in time for the brace of games Thursday, but failing to arrive for the third tilt between the Crackers and the Bruins, the new third-sacker will get here in ample time for Friday's encounter.

ATLANTA NET PLAYERS WIN

Asheville, N. C., August 22.—(Special.)—Seventeen matches were played today on the courts of the Asheville Country Club, the weather continued to be ideal, and the play was fast. The eight men seeded in the singles all came through in fine shape, and no upsets occurred in doubles.

Pat Winston, who was runner-up to Owens last year, disposed of R. W. Winston in fine fashion, the score being 6-4, 7-5. Winston's game seemed to be better than ever, and he will almost certainly be heard from again this year.

Rutledge defeated Melton to the tune of 6-4, 7-5, in a match that was tip and tuck all the way.

Berry Grant won from Dick Rutledge after two good sets, 6-2, 6-3. The young Atlanta's game was going exceptionally well, his volleying being especially good.

Jack Caldwell defeated Harvey Hayward, of Charleston, 6 love, 6-1, while Owens beat Keenes by the same score. In the doubles, Caldwell and Owens met their fellow Atlantas, Grant and Van Winkle, and won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4.

Hobart and Johnston, the team picked to go to the finals in the upper bracket, experienced little trouble with Bourne and Schuber, the score being six love, 6-4.

The ladies' events will be continued tomorrow, as well as the men's single and doubles. Mrs. Johnston is being picked to win the ladies' singles while she and Miss Ford are the favorites in doubles.

Golf Date Changed.

New York, August 22.—The opening round of the national amateur golf championship at Brookline, Mass., will be played on Saturday, September 2, instead of the following Monday, it was announced officially today by the United States Golf association.

Canadians Win.

Toronto, August 22.—Canada today won the first series of six yacht races with the Eastern Yacht club of Marblehead, Mass., when the Cara Mia defeated the Patricia by one minute and one second in a twelve-mile race.

GRIFFIN TEAM AGAIN WINNER

Griffin, Ga., August 22.—(Special.) The University of Georgia stars, playing for Griffin, again outclassed Greenville, and won the second game of the series, 6 to 2. Judge Thomas tried for Griffin and gave up after five hits, one of which was of the scratch variety. The judge retired five by the strikeout route. He also hit safely once out of two tries and scored one run. The judge had rather a large day.

Griffin scored first in the second inning. But it was the third frame that spelled defeat for Greenville, in this round Thomas led off by drawing a pass. Clarke was likewise issued free transportation, Watson bunted, beat it out, and the bases were filled. Eldridge singled to left and two runners counted. Thomson lined out a screamer and two more tapped the rubber.

Brannon continued to play his stellar game for Greenville. He got two out of three and fielded seven chances without a bobble. Moreland hit two out of four, while Colby secured the other hit for the visitors. Pat Powers led the attack for Griffin. Pat hit three out of four of innings. He also caught a nice game. Watson bagged two out of four and Hutchinson lined out a three-bagger.

The game was too one-sided to furnish many thrills, but Greenville promises stiffer opposition for the last game, as it is understood that Lufe Wheat will be mound duty.

SEMI-FINALS IN TOURNNEY

The feature match of today in the semi-finals of the invitation tournament being played over the Ansley Park golf course under auspices of the Atlanta Women's Golf association, appears to be that between Mrs. T. T. Williams and Mrs. Clarence Bradley, both victorious yesterday in the first round. Mrs. Williams was hard pressed in defeating Miss J. I. Cook 2 up and 1, while Mrs. Bradley eliminated Mrs. McCalliff by 3-2.

Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Bradley opposed each other in a previous tournament, playing in the finals for the Davis & Freeman trophy over the Piedmont municipal course. Mrs. Williams won 2 up, giving her opponent four strokes.

Mrs. Bradley, however, is playing at the top of her game just now and will make good use of the single stroke Mrs. Williams will give in today's battle.

Mrs. L. H. Beck and Mrs. Howard Muse are paired in the other match of the semi-finals in the first division. Mrs. Beck having won over Mrs. Hardean yesterday 6 up and 5, while Mrs. Muse eliminated Mrs. J. G. Jagoe, 4 and 3.

Pairings in other fights for today follow: First flight (18 holes)—Miss McCalliff (20) plays Mrs. C. Burr (45); Mrs. Henry Granade (45) plays Mrs. Bardwell (38).

Second flight (18 holes)—Mrs. Bellfus (50) plays Mrs. Pomeroy (50); Mrs. Weyliffe Goldsmith (50) plays Mrs. Lott Warren, Jr., (50).

Fourth flight (9 holes)—Mrs. Harmon (25) plays Mrs. Pepper (18); Mrs. Downman (25) plays Miss Louise Bennett (23).

Fifth flight (9 holes)—Mrs. Thornton (25) plays Mrs. William Aker (25); Miss May Haverly (25) plays Mrs. Wells (25).

Sixth flight (9 holes)—Mrs. Isie O'Quinn (25) plays Mrs. Axtley (25); Miss Helen Muse (25) plays Mrs. Marshall Diggs (25).

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS. First Flight. Mrs. Williams defeated Miss J. I. Cook, 2-1; Mrs. Bradley defeated Mrs. McCalliff, 3-2; Mrs. Beck defeated Mrs. Hardean, 6-5; Mrs. Howard Muse defeated Mrs. Jagoe, 4-3.

SIXTEEN INJURED IN ALABAMA CRASH

Talladega, Ala., August 22.—At least three persons were seriously injured and thirteen suffered minor injuries when the southbound Louisville and Nashville passenger train No. 85 collided with a freight train about two miles south of Talladega this afternoon about 2:30 o'clock.

The collision occurred near the spur track leading to the Planters' Chemical and Oil company, upon which the freight is said to have been switching. The impact broke all steam and water connections on the freight train, and caused it to tear heading down the spur track for half a mile, until at the chemical plant it ran into a block, completely demolishing one box car and a coal car, and derailing and damaging the freight engine.

Engine Badly Damaged. The passenger engine was badly damaged, and the baggage car slightly damaged. The northbound local which was in the yards at Talladega at the time the wreck occurred, brought the passengers coaches back to Talladega, where the injured passengers were able to make other connections. The seriously injured were taken to a local hospital.

They are: J. McCullers, freight engineer, Boyles, Ala.; Mrs. Lula Watson, Anniston, Ala., head bruised and other injuries; Frank N. Brown, Cedartown, Ga., broken leg and internal injuries; Thomas Moffett, passenger engineer, Birmingham, Ala., broken arm; W. J. Duke, Birmingham, Ala., sprained shoulder.

Cedartown Woman. Mrs. Mary Hudgins, Cedartown, Ga., broken leg; Mrs. Alice Brasher, Anniston, Ala.; S. A. Burns, Talladega, Ala.; Ross Burnett, Jasper, Ala.; John Johnson, Sylacauga, Ala.; Willie Ford, Talladega, Ala.; Mrs. G. W. Waites, Sycamore, Ala.; Lilla and Ora Willis, Sylacauga, Ala.; Novell Chapman, negro, Talladega, Ala.; Jack Jackson, negro passenger fireman, Birmingham, Ala., burned; Lula Ann Chapman, negro, Talladega, Ala.; Frank Young, negro, Talladega; Robert Thompson, negro, Fayetteville, Ala.; Dave Howard, negro, Roanoke, Ala.

AIR TRANSPORTATION IS BECOMING CHEAPER. New York, August 21.—Such strides are being made in the United States in improvement of aircraft that soon it may be possible to transport a person at cost of not more than 6 cents a mile. Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the United States air service, declared today. The present cost per person per mile, he said, was from 18 to 60 cents.

Fully 1,500,000 farmers of Japan have no land of their own.

MEL COOGAN FIGHTS BUDD

Mel Coogan, of New York, one of the leading welterweight contenders, will meet Battling Budd, popular Atlanta welterweight, today, as was announced last night at Ponce de Leon, where the Sandow-Sanders place was held. This fight will take the place of a proposed encounter between the winner of last night's fight and Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion of the world.

Matchmaker Walk Miller had announced earlier in the week that the champion would be brought to Atlanta, but a wire received yesterday from Lynch's manager, "Fat Eddie" Meade, spoiled proceedings. Meade is entirely satisfied with the offer of by the American Legion, but considerable business in New York must be handled by the champion before he goes after out-of-town cash.

He was offered for a bout early in October, but that's a long ways off. Mel Coogan has long been knocking the group with the top-notchers. He has topped off many of them, earning decisions over a flock of others. Miller believes that Budd and Coogan will give Atlanta a fadoman a fine entertainment. Budd is near the perfection that was his some years ago.

Budd Going Nicely. Some of his punching possibly has been slipped off since the Battler was knocking them stiff in his prime, but that Budd can still travel at a terrific pace is conceded by Young Strubling, "Red" McLachlin, "Red" Herring and many other Dixie welterweights.

Budd just now is the outstanding figure in the Walk Miller stable of pugilists, unless this honor is given "Tiger" Flowers, a drawing card in practically every fight center in the United States. Budd is never called upon when the fighters become too tough for the rest of the field.

After Jake Abel and Larry Averara had been "Red" McLachlin was signalled to take on the "Saginaw Terror" and what he did to McLachlin will long be remembered by local fans. The Scotman was beaten at his own game and Budd was hailed as the conquering hero.

Then "Red" Herring's stock began to take a tremendous boost. The Slagtown Sluggo credited earlier with a knockout over Larry Averara, had just finished Fearless Ferns in quick order when Battling Budd was sent in to repel the invasion. After ten ferocious rounds, the fight was adjourned a draw and hundreds of local customers would like to see the argument settled.

Coogan is good enough to make Budd use every trick and there is a possibility that Budd will get knocked out for the first time in his long career.

DOUGLASVILLE TEAM WINNER

Cartersville, Ga.—August 22.—(Special.)—Douglasville defeated Cartersville in the fifth and deciding game here today by the score of 8 to 6. The game was featured by the heavy hitting of the Douglasville team, with Babin, Brown, Long and Peace hitting best. Irwin also hit one of the longest home runs seen here this season.

Lotspeich and Willis started as the pitchers but Willis lasted only 2 innings, giving way to Jake Morris, but he fared little better, the visitors hitting him hard. Peace was Douglasville's relief man, going in and stopping the local team till the ninth when errors and a questionable decision gave the locals three runs.

Douglasville scored four runs in the second and four in the seventh inning. Cartersville made two in the ninth, one in the fourth and in a ninth-inning rally scored three more. Irwin's homer scoring Bonwell ahead of him came in the second frame. Adair and Terry umpired the game which was witnessed by a large number of fans from all parts of northwest Georgia.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Douglasville, 040 000 400—8; Cartersville, 021 000 003—6. Batteries—Douglasville, Lotspeich, Peace and Smith; Cartersville, Willis, Morris and Bryant.

Secret Service Breaks Up Party Of Communists

International Plot Against American Industry Revealed in Raid. Bridgman, Mich., August 22.—The government Tuesday struck in its campaign against what federal investigators declare is an international plot against peaceful functioning of American industry.

Directed from Washington by William J. Burns, chief of the United States secret service, four federal inspectors leading twenty deputy sheriffs, after lying in the hills near here for three days, swooped down on the international convention of the communist party, held in a remote resort, and captured fifteen leaders.

Sixty-one delegates, including William Z. Foster, head of the "New Union" movement, and M. Reinstein and P. Lokowsky, said to be personal representatives of Nicolai Lenin, escaped before the raid after a thrilling chase and in twelve over almost impassable roads, and Tuesday night were being hunted by a swarm of secret service men, Michigan state troopers, and the police of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

Under Soviet Leadership. The arrested delegates included many of the best known names in radical and "pink" circles in the country, were lodged in the Berrien county jail Tuesday and truckloads of literature and correspondence were taken, each, according to the inspectors, indicating that the convention was working under direct leadership of Soviet Russia.

The raid was the culmination of months of patient waiting by the secret service men. The government knew of the proposed convention through its secret service. Operations have been shadowing the communist leaders for months, it is learned.

Last Saturday the communist leaders began to gather in Chicago from all parts of the country and each arrived with a government operative as his shadow. It was then learned that the preliminary convention was to be held in the Carl Wainstead resort, hidden away in the woods near here.

Deputies In Wait. Led by Sheriff George Bridgman, of Berrien county, twenty deputies laid in wait on the hills surrounding the wood-hidden resort from Saturday until Tuesday. The communists arrived, singly and in pairs, until Monday night there were seventy-six of them at the resort.

Sheriff Bridgman communicated with the federal inspectors, who came from Chicago. Before they could arrive, however, outposts of the radicals, according to deputies, got wind of the raid and the majority of the delegates escaped, plunging into the woods. Foster, Reinstein and Lokowsky are believed to have secured an automobile to Benton Harbor.

When W. J. Burns, directing the raid by telephone from Washington, learned of the escape of part of the delegates, he telephoned Colonel Roy C. Vandercok, commissioner of safety at Lansing, to send state troopers here. They arrived Tuesday night and at once started a man-hunt through the dense woods and in nearby towns. Police at Chicago were notified to watch all radical rendezvous there and every federal agent in

Before they could arrive, however, outposts of the radicals, according to deputies, got wind of the raid and the majority of the delegates escaped, plunging into the woods. Foster, Reinstein and Lokowsky are believed to have secured an automobile to Benton Harbor.

When W. J. Burns, directing the raid by telephone from Washington, learned of the escape of part of the delegates, he telephoned Colonel Roy C. Vandercok, commissioner of safety at Lansing, to send state troopers here. They arrived Tuesday night and at once started a man-hunt through the dense woods and in nearby towns. ## Secret Service Breaks Up Party Of Communists

International Plot Against American Industry Revealed in Raid. Bridgman, Mich., August 22.—The government Tuesday struck in its campaign against what federal investigators declare is an international plot against peaceful functioning of American industry.

Directed from Washington by William J. Burns, chief of the United States secret service, four federal inspectors leading twenty deputy sheriffs, after lying in the hills near here for three days, swooped down on the international convention of the communist party, held in a remote resort, and captured fifteen leaders.

Sixty-one delegates, including William Z. Foster, head of the "New Union" movement, and M. Reinstein and P. Lokowsky, said to be personal representatives of Nicolai Lenin, escaped before the raid after a thrilling chase and in twelve over almost impassable roads, and Tuesday night were being hunted by a swarm of secret service men, Michigan state troopers, and the police of Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

Under Soviet Leadership. The arrested delegates included many of the best known names in radical and "pink" circles in the country, were lodged in the Berrien county jail Tuesday and truckloads of literature and correspondence were taken, each, according to the inspectors, indicating that the convention was working under direct leadership of Soviet Russia.

The raid was the culmination of months of patient waiting by the secret service men. The government knew of the proposed convention through its secret service. Operations have been shadowing the communist leaders for months, it is learned.

Last Saturday the communist leaders began to gather in Chicago from all parts of the country and each arrived with a government operative as his shadow. It was then learned that the preliminary convention was to be held in the Carl Wainstead resort, hidden away in the woods near here.

Deputies In Wait. Led by Sheriff George Bridgman, of Berrien county, twenty deputies laid in wait on the hills surrounding the wood-hidden resort from Saturday until Tuesday. The communists arrived, singly and in pairs, until Monday night there were seventy-six of them at the resort.

Sheriff Bridgman communicated with the federal inspectors, who came from Chicago. Before they could arrive, however, outposts of the radicals, according to deputies, got wind of the raid and the majority of the delegates escaped, plunging into the woods. Foster, Reinstein and Lokowsky are believed to have secured an automobile to Benton Harbor.

Now $1275
Special-Six Touring

SAVINGS resulting from capacity manufacture are now offered to the buyer of the Studebaker Special-Six. The new price of $1275 is $200 under its former price.

Studebaker reductions became effective August 1st after Studebaker had completed the biggest seven months in its 70 years' history. And at a time when Studebaker had 15,000 unfilled orders on hand! It is a Studebaker policy of long standing to share manufacturing savings with the customer.

The performance, durability, comfort and quality of the Special-

Six are recognized everywhere. And here's new proof of its endurance: Studebaker's sales of repair parts, covering accidents as well as service, for the first seven months of 1922 were less than they were for the first seven months of 1919, in spite of the fact that 186,000 new cars were sold and put into operation since January 1, 1920.

The Special-Six at $1275 represents a new standard of value—the greatest value Studebaker has ever offered, and that means a value that is positively unapproached anywhere in the industry.

SANDOW WINS OVER JACK SANDERS IN POOR BATTLE

Schlosser Stages Dive In Third Round; Nappie Defeats Sailor Vinson

Sandow Uses Every Weapon In Attempt To Stop Sanders, But Knockout Blow Missing. Sanders Bleeds Freely After Second.

BY PAUL WARWICK.
Bleary-eyed and beautifully bloody, Jackie Sanders was still standing before the none too furious onslaught of Sammy Sandow last night when the kong announced the end of the fifteenth round of the main event in the American Legion's fight card. From the third round on it looked like a knockout for Sandow, who is hard of hearing, but obvious not so hard of hitting. It wasn't a knockout.

If the first paragraph sounds derogatory to the show, it is because the American Legion has been providing the Atlanta public with a class of boxing so far below the local average that our tastes have been inflated and we can't get enthusiastic over an average entertainment. The legion deserves continued credit for its honest efforts.

And it wasn't so bad. For the boys did their best and the fans enjoyed themselves. Most of the time, the evening was fraught with features from the trunks of Freddy Welsh, which Fat Elrod said he had loaned to Freddy from the wardrobe Fat had when he played Robin Hood, to the dip of death performed by one Battling Schlosser, who came down from Chattanooga to make Jack Denham appear in trunks and take a chance of catching his death of cold.

Chief Attraction.
Taken all in all, the bout between Slippery Schlosser and Denham was the chief attraction. Before it had started good, there appeared what looked like an accidental foul on Jack's part. Schlosser, who looked like Lionel Strongfoot, and fought like Susanna Crockett, declined the fight, if any, and returned to the dance floor.

In the third round, the crowd was rather taken back to see Schlosser, in all his blond majesty, rush to the center of the ring and drop. Denham hasn't hit him yet. As far as this correspondent knows, this is the first no-hit battle to be won by a local fighter this season. Yes,

Schlosser's Annette Kellerman was decidedly the feature of the evening, though it does seem that he could have found a soft spot somewhere around Chattanooga that would have served him as well. The only slight nervous shock when Schlosser almost fell in his (Denham's) own understand) corn.

Sanders Starts Bleeding.

After the second round in the main event, Sanders began to bleed rather copiously about the eyes. From then on, Sandow's chief enjoyment was figuring out new devices to be made from the claret on various parts of his and Sanders' anatomy. One was

ter stroke was when Sandow swiped

enough of the blood for his own use to lead to make that globe look like a "three" ball on a pool table. This brought wild applause from the audience and really turned the popular favor to Sandow.

Sandow had no trouble in landing his blows, but they were either devoid of force, or Sanders has a cast iron countenance. Let us incline to the latter belief, for most people would have dropped about the tenth round after so many snuffs in the face with a powder puff.

Sanders didn't even hurt Sandow's feelings. There was one time when

STRIKE PARLEY RESUMED TODAY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, August 22.—Four surprise factors entered into the rail strike situation today, any one of which, according to representatives of roads and brotherhoods, may vitally influence the action of the Association of Railway Executives, when it meets tomorrow to consider peace proposals for mediation with the five big brotherhoods. They were:

1. The announcement that presidents of three powerful eastern roads, Samuel Rea, of the Pennsylvania; E. E. Loomis, of the Lehigh Valley; and William Besler, of the Jersey Central, were expected to arrive from Europe on the Majestic, in time to participate in the conference of the Association of Railway Executives.

2. The grant by three large steel corporations of a 20 per cent increase in wages to their several thousand day laborers.

3. Assertion by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson and chairman of the eastern presidents' conference, that predictions of a strike settlement and peace in the industry were "all bunk."

4. Announcement that several brotherhood chiefs are en route from the west with practical proposals for settlement of the shopmen's strike, which they will submit to rail executives if all other peace advances fail.

Refuse Comment.

Heads of the railway executives refuse to comment on the unexpected arrival of the three eastern presidents. Their return on the same boat, and in the midst of the present crisis, was admittedly significant, however, especially since their respective presidents have been the nucleus of the national association, has consistently fought against any peace plan which included reinstatement of strikers with seniority rights unimpaired.

The decision of the steel corporations to raise the wages of laborers announced just 24 hours prior to the scheduled meeting of the executives, was hailed by the strikers as a point in their favor. It not only justified their refusal to accept wage cuts fixed by the railroad labor board, they said, but was ample proof of an impending industrial boom which would put the railroads, with their thousands of bad order cars, more than ever in need of their old repair force.

"This wage increase will put considerable fire into the veins of railroad labor," declared David Williams, secretary of the eastern strike committee.

"The railroad man will find it hard to understand why he should get $2.75 a day when he could get $4 for the same work in the steel mills."

"If the railroads don't settle with the shopmen, it will be doubly difficult for them to hold the unskilled crafts in line."

Rail Leaders Silent.

Rail heads refrained from discussion of the possible effects of the steel company's move on rail strike negotiations. They were, nevertheless, quick to offer numerous reasons why the steel industry should grant their men a raise at this critical stage.

One was that some of the steel corporation bankers who are also large investors in the railroad stocks, took such means of making untenable the position of the steel industry.

In other quarters the raise to steel men was interpreted as an attempt to forestall a shortage of labor when coal mines get into full operation again, and roads are called on to take up the additional burden of record crop movements. Still others declared it might bring the wage question back to its proper perspective, which now has simmered down to a battle over seniority rights.

To Fight Together.

Although Mr. Loree today disclaimed any intention of putting the brakes on strike negotiations, after declaring that "this talk of peace is all bunk," other members of the eastern presidents' conference, voicing similar views, indicated clearly that they will enter tomorrow's conference as a "bloc" to oppose any plan for restoration of seniority.

Despite continued assertions of rail chiefs that they will enter the conference tomorrow without having been forewarned by their executive committee's two-day conference with the big west, last week, reports persist in labor circles that several such proposals were laid before the carrier representatives.

In each case full restoration of seniority was said to have been the outstanding feature. One such plan, revealed in labor sources, tonight was said to have been written by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and an official of the brotherhood of engineers, containing provisions similar to President Harding's last proposal, cloaked in new words.

Wages, working conditions and farming out of shop work would be referred to the railroad labor board for adjudication, according to this plan, it was said.

Seniority Question.

On the seniority question, strikers would return with full rights as of July 1. Loyal employees would retain former rights plus rights since July 1. New men, taken on since the strike was called, would have rights dating from July 1. Under this plan, the strikers would lose seniority rights for only the eight weeks the strike now has been in progress.

Most of the 148 rail men who will attend the meeting at the Yale club tomorrow arrived in the city tonight, and straightway began several informal caucuses in an effort to line up votes for the balloting tomorrow.

Meetings were unannounced and in small groups, and those in attendance declined to give any indication of results.

Meantime, labor headquarters again became active, with the arrival of officials of the 10 shopcraft unions, who provided the big rail leaders in the city.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and B. F. Jewell, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, are expected to arrive tomorrow to lay plans for the brotherhoods' replacement of sessions with an executive committee of the association probably Thursday.

Freight Embargo Is Lifted.

Louisville, Ky., August 22.—The freight embargo on the Louisville division, western district, of the Southern railway was lifted late today when it was announced that the engineers' union, western district, will walk out, according to previous announcement, at 12:01 o'clock Thursday morning.

This will keep traffic open to Louisville, Danville and Lexington, with connections with the southeast. Indications also point to a settlement of the walkout of the 50 trainmen at Princeton, Ind., who were said to be thought to mean an adjustment also of the walkout call for the engineers on the St. Louis division. No explanation was made concerning the basis of agreement on the Louisville division.

The order of J. F. Sheridan, superintendent of the district, provided that "that part of the order pertaining to the discontinuance of train service after 12:01 o'clock Thursday morning on the Louisville division."

TROOPS REMOVED.

WORKERS RETURN.

Salisbury, Mo., August 22.—Members of the big four brotherhoods, switchmen and railroad clerks employed at the Spencer shops of the Southern railway are returning to work following withdrawal of national guardsmen ordered yesterday for guard duty.

The removal of the troops was ordered by Colonel Don E. Scott, their commanding officer, at the request of R. F. Simpson, general superintendent of the Southern railway, who said that the brotherhood men who served notice they would not work as long as soldiers were in the shops.

Colonel Scott stated that all troops were moved from the shops, but that one company would be stationed at Salisbury to be ready to move in an emergency. The remainder of the armed force of 500 men is quartered at the fair grounds three miles from the shops.

UNSEEN MARKSMEN KILL NEGRO WORKER.

Somerset, Ky., August 22.—An unidentified negro man was killed near here early today when volleys of shot crashed into the coal chutes of the Southern railway system from three directions.

It is reported here that as a result of the outbreak of firing a rumor upon Governor Morrow for troops for guard duty might be made.

In the view of the severe nature of the firing estimated that considerable number of men made up the party of concealed marksmen and that at least 300 bullets struck the chutes and in and about the railroad shops.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of City Treasurer, subject to the white primary.

My banking experience qualifies me for this position, having filled every position from Collector to Assistant Cashier, which position I now hold with the Fulton National Bank.

I shall be grateful for the support of my friends.

nearby. The excitement which followed the firing soon subsided.

JEWELL REPLIES TO EXECUTIVES.

New York, August 22.—Assertions of L. F. Loree, chairman of the eastern presidents' conference, that talk of peace in the rail strike was "all bunk" were attacked by the eastern strike committee of shopmen today in a telegram to Bert M. Jewell, president of their union, at Washington.

"The Loree group of eastern railroad executives, insignificant in numbers but backed by the vast power of the Morgan-Gary open shop interests, is seeking a desperate eleven-hour attempt to scuttle the strike settlement, said a telegram, dispatched by John J. Dowd, chairman of the metropolitan district strike committee.

"The sides in the negotiations were pledged, as you know, by their respective mediation committees to refrain from comment that might embarrass the conference. Last evening Mr. Loree deliberately violated the agreement and arrogantly attempted to wreck all settlement progress when he gave a statement to the press in which he called peace talk 'bunk' and openly belittled the efforts of the majority of the executives to reach an agreement with the strikers."

"This latest move of the 'die hard' minority shows that they will stop at nothing in their campaign to 'eat the union on their own words.' We urge you personally to bring this matter to the immediate attention of government authorities in touch with the union mediation committee of five for their information and guidance."

C. O. GRANTED STRIKE INJUNCTION.

Richmond, Va., August 22.—Declaring that new employees at Clifton Forge, Va., "are being assaulted almost daily by strikers," the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, through J. M. Perry, its attorney at Staunton, Va., has protested to Judge Henry C. McDowell, of the United States district court, for the western Virginia district, it was learned here today.

In a letter to Judge McDowell, Mr. Perry stated that taxicabs, streetcar, hotels and restaurants in Clifton Forge refuse to accommodate the new employees, and that "conditions at Clifton Forge are worse than at any other point on the road."

HARDING STICKS TO HIS INTENTIONS.

Washington, August 22.—President Harding, although hopeful of success from the New York rail strike conference, was said to be today to be unable to take any other steps than those stated in his recent address to congress.

The declaration to congress that the laws would be enforced and the rights of workers to enter railroad service guaranteed, it was added, it will remain as the final government statement until there is a change in the situation.

The surface of the sun is 12,000 times that of the earth.

ROSSER AND BYFIELD WILL RETURN SOON

Having accomplished the greater part of their mission in New York, Clyde Byfield and his attorney, Luther Rosser, are expected to return to Atlanta at an early date, it was reported Tuesday.

Byfield and his attorney went to New York last week for the purpose of gathering evidence in support of the $100,000 damage suit filed by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Byfield, against Walter Candler, Atlanta banker, who is charged with having attacked her on the Boregaris. Several persons on board the ship on which Candler and Byfield engaged in a fight after the alleged discovery by Byfield of Candler in Mrs. Byfield's state-room, are said to have been questioned by Byfield's attorney.

The condition of Mrs. Byfield, who has been seriously ill at her residence since an operation, said to have been necessary because of an alleged attack by Candler, was reported to be improved Tuesday.

THOMASVILLE FAMILY NEAR DEATH IN FIRE

Thomasville, Ga., August 22.—(Special.)—E. T. Satcher, manager of the Southern Bell Telephone company and his children narrowly escaped being burned alive when their home was destroyed by fire, with virtually everything in it, Sunday night.

Mrs. Satcher was away and her husband was sleeping in a room adjoining the children's. He waked in the night to find the house in flames. Although afraid it was too late, he ran in to save the children. They were making their escape at the same time. The house and furnishings were partially insured.

James R. Rose, 48 years old, of Pickens, S. C., died Tuesday morning at a local hospital. H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

FARM LOANS

We solicit applications for Farm Loans. A half million dollars immediately available.

Let us suggest that wide-awake farmers ought to know now as well as they will later whether they are going to need money this fall. If they are going to need it, they should apply now, because now we can give the business prompt attention and place the loans quickly. Later on we shall be overwhelmed with business and have to move more slowly. It is so every year.

We have a correspondent in nearly every county in the state. Write us for his name. We are well known to farmers, merchants, bankers and lawyers in every county in the state. We have fifteen millions of farm loans on our books now, which shows we can and do place loans for those who call on us.
